FOOD PRICES HERE ROSE 8 PER CENT IN ONE MONTH

St. Louis Among Four Cities
With Greatest Increase
Up to April 15—Average for Country 5 Per Cent.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Coincident with additional reports of nationwide price cutting, the Department of Labor's Bureau of Statistics announced today that foodstuff prices between March 15 and April 15 showed the greatest increase of any 30-day period since April, 1915. Reports from retailers in 51 cities, the bureau said, showed that in the 30 days ending March 15, prices for 23 common articles of food advanced 8 per cent and reached the highest points on record. Increases in the retail price of food were reported in each of the 51 cities and were greatest in Cleveland, Detroit, Indianapolis and St. Louis, with an 8 per cent advance. The smallest increase—1 per cent—was reported from Fall River, Mass.

Potatoes led in the advance, the retail price increasing 34 per cent. The bureau reports that average increase during April of more than 4 per cent in wholesale prices of various commodities. Cereals and clothing was the only group showing a decrease in prices for the month. Fuel and lighting materials furnished the greatest increase, 11 per cent, due to the increase of prices of bituminous coal and coke. Recent advances in sugar and potatoes were largely responsible for the 19-per cent boost in foodstuffs. Prices of lumber, building material, farm products, chemicals, news print and wrapping paper also continued to rise steadily.

While the wave of sweeping price reductions has not become general here, many stores are advertising 15, 20 and 25 per cent cuts.

Object of Unusual Plea Said

Penalties Provided for Subsequent Offenses.

It was stated today in the office of the United States District Attorney after an exhaustive inquiry, has issued an examiner's report in which it is decided that the patent rights to the inland piston ring, of which about 5,000,000 have been sold for use on automobiles, belong to John W. Ford, who invented the appliance in 1914 when he was working here as master mechanic at the Inland Machine Works at $30 a week. Ford says he will make efforts to collect royalties on all piston rings that have been sold or that are sold hereafter.

The hearing was held upon the request of Ford after he had discovered that a patent had been taken out by John Flammang, then president of the Inland Works. Ford was discharged from the concern in 1915 and did not know the patent had been applied for until the following year.

Ford, in his claim before the Patent Office, asserted he invented the ring after lengthy experiments had been made at the works to develop some cylinder ring that would keep itself automatically tight.

He said Flammang had started work on a wound piston ring, then attempted to make a ring with a long helical cut. He claims that various methods were attempted to keep this slot closed. First, it was done with a lathe in a cutting tool, then with a slitting saw in a milling machine. Flammang is said to have consulted with Ford and other workers for an effort to find a means to keep the slot closed, as carbon could collect in it and allow the escape of gas.

I Got Idea at Home.

Ford says he had in October, 1914, while experimenting at his home, which was then on Lexington avenue, he suddenly conceived the idea of how the ring could be adjusted. His wife was ill in bed at the time and he testified that he explained the matter to her.

The next working day, he says, he showed an imperfect ring to Flammang, then went to the gas furnace and treated it with heat so that it would take the position he wished.

He says he took it back and showed it to Flammang, who exclaimed, "We've got it at last," and that Flammang then took the ring to his office to show it to his associates.

Ford's system consisted in changing the temper of the metal in a furnace, making the ends overlap when the metal was annealed and the molecules of the metal offered no resistance, then tempering it so that it would spring tight and lock itself when the ends were bent back and brought together, thus effectually closing the slot.

Could Not Get Stock.

Ford says that Flammang went to Ford's home on several occasions to discuss the ring and when a stock company was proposed to manufacture the metal, Flammang told Ford that he could not arrange for Ford to have any stock in the concern, but that Ford might be able to get 1 per cent of the proceeds, if such a company was formed.

Ford says his discharge occurred in 1915, when the company began manufacturing the rings. Since then, he says, he has had to work at times for $22 weekly. He is now master mechanic in the Schramm Glass Works at Hillboro, Mo.

Examiner's Report.

In the examiner's report from the Patent Office, the following decision is handed down:

"The senior party (Flammang) has shown that he invented the ring or the process of making it, which constitute the inventions here at issue. The most he did was to reduce a well-known ring with the gap open and disclose the possibility of closing the gap by overstraining the metal. The junior party (Ford) closed the gap in an open-gapped ring by heat treatment and by so doing practiced the process here in issue. He then disclosed the resulting ring with the process of making it to Flammang in the latter part of September or early in October, 1914."

It was also held by the examiner that Flammang could lay no claim to inventorship based on his relation to Ford of employer and employee. It was decided that what Ford did was his sole inventive act and priority in the invention was adjudged to him.

Flammang, who now conducts the ordinance tool concern at 2914 North Market street, stated when questioned that he had been made to unload the cars.

ROBBERS TIE UP 3 MEN IN STORE, TAKE JEWELRY

16 DIAMOND RINGS, 12 WATCHES STOLEN

Young Men in Auto Lock
Door While They Rifle
Safe and Showcases and Escape Unpursued.

Three young men in an automobile held up the jewelry store of Henry J. Kirchhoff, 1902 North Grand avenue, at 3 o'clock this afternoon and took 16 diamond rings and 12 watches, all valued at $2500, besides $140 in cash.

A customer was in the store and the robbers tied the proprietor, his clerk and the customer together in a rear room while they took the valuables. They escaped without shots or pursuit.

Two of the robbers entered the store while the proprietor was repairing a watch at the front counter. They asked to see watches, and when Kirchhoff arose and faced them, they commanded him to lie on the floor.

They then marched him to the rear of the store and tied him with D. C. Kusel's optician, his assistant. A customer came in, and they hurried him to the rear and tied him also.

The third man came in after the customer and locked the front door. The men then robbed the safe and the showcases.

"Give us five minutes to get away," they said warningly as they left.

Kirchhoff reached in Kusel's pocket and got a knife, with which he cut the cords that bound the three. He then gave the alarm, but the men had disappeared. Kirchhoff said the first two were about 26 years old, and had on dark caps.

Kirchhoff said his loss was covered by insurance.

CARSON SAYS HEAD OFFICE OF IRISH CAMPAIGN IS IN U. S.

Unionist Leader Tells Commons Most Funds in Plot to Wreck Empire Came From America.

LONDON, May 20.—There is ample evidence, declared Sir Edward Carson, the Unionist leader, during the Irish bill debate in the House of Commons today, that the Irish department is all a part of the propaganda being conducted in Egypt and India.

"The chief offices are in New York," declared Sir Edward, "and the persons who are directing the campaign are not animated by a desire to help Ireland, but out of hatred are working to destroy the British empire. Whether it comes by way of Germany or not, the greater part of the funds for this movement come from America."

SUES LANDLORD FOR $10,000 FOR DEATH OF HIS WIFE

Claim Is Made That Failure to Furnish Enough Heat Caused Death of Pneumonia.

Alleging that the death of his wife was caused by the owner's failure to properly heat a flat, Martin E. Craffey today filed a suit for $10,000 damages against the Retwin Realty and Investment Co. of 107 North Ninth street.

The petition alleges that Craffey and his wife, Frances B. Craffey, in May, 1919, rented a flat at 4144 West Carter avenue, owned and controlled by the real estate company, which agreed to furnish heat.

Craffey asserts in the petition that the company failed to furnish adequate heat in the winter of 1919-20 and that, as a result, his wife contracted pneumonia from which she died Jan. 30 last.

TREASURY APPEALS TO PUBLIC TO HOLD ON TO LIBERTY BONDS

Also Asks Holders to Buy as Many as Possible Now When Price Is Low.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The Treasury Department appealed today to the press of the United States to aid in improving the Liberty bond situation by carrying in their columns a statement as to the intrinsic value of the bonds and their present prices. The statement explained the reasons for the present bond prices and suggested methods for their improvement.

Referring to the slump in market quotations for Liberty bonds, the statement said, "the price has been brought down because so many people are offering to sell their bonds."

"If the market is flooded with tomatoes," the statement added, "you can buy them cheap, but if everyone is clamoring for tomatoes and there are few to be had, the price goes up. The same is true of Liberty bonds. Short-sighted people are dumping them on the market, and wise ones are buying them."

The treasury advised holding onto the bonds bought during the war and the buying as many more as the present low rate as could be afforded, for in the latter case the purchaser will not only receive the regular interest, but make a clear profit of the difference between present prices and the face value of the bonds.

Several detachments of the State constabulary are on the way here, and crowds of mine workers were congregated around the railroad station this morning awaiting their arrival. But the armed deputy sheriffs, who were rushed here by Sheriff Blankenship of Mingo County, in which Matewan is situated, apparently had no further disorder to look for upon the arrival of the State police.

Thirty members of the State police force arrived in Matewan this morning, and, assisted by deputy sheriffs, started patrolling the streets. There has been no recurrence of the disorders of last night.

Mingo County has long been in the heart of the non-union mining fields of the State and of late persistent efforts have been made to unionize the workers. The Stone Mountain Coal Co., among other concerns, met the effort of unionization by closing several of its mines and the workers say, discharging men who had joined the unions.

Miners Evicted From Houses.

The mine workers live in houses which they rent from the coal companies and the families of the discharged miners were ordered to give up their homes by the Stone Mountain Co. The miners refused to leave their houses and the coal company sent 12 employees of the Baldwin-Felts Detective Agency from Williamson, West Va., here to evict them. Yesterday eight families were put out of their homes. Feeling between the miners and the detective agency ran high from the time the evictions began and finally led up to the pitched battle in the streets.

A shot, said by authorities to have been fired from a coat pocket by Albert Felts, a detective, and which ended the life of Mayor Cabell Teterman of Matewan, started the battle. An instant after he fired, Felts, according to authorities, was killed by Ed Hatfield, chief of police of Matewan. The shooting then became general, and when the battle ended seven detectives, the Mayor and two coal miners were dead and three other persons badly wounded.

It is said in a warrant for the arrest of "Ief Hatfield on a charge that he had taken a prisoner from detectives some time ago."

The Mayor was reading the warrant when he was killed.

Sheriff's Story of Fight.

Sheriff Blankenship of Mingo County, gave his version of the fight last night as follows:

"As I understand the situation at Matewan, a number of men had been discharged from their employment in the mines after it became known that efforts were being made to take them into the miners' union. They lived in houses owned by the Stone Mountain Coal Co., and after their dismissal the company served notice on them to vacate. A party of Baldwin-Felts detectives went from here today to carry out those instructions."

"Eight families were evicted, and the detectives, about 12 in number, were on their way to the railroad station to return to Williamson when Albert Felts attempted to arrest 'Ief Hatfield, chief of police of Matewan, on a warrant charging that Hatfield had taken a prisoner from one of the detectives some time ago."

"Mayor Teterman, who was near by, asked Felts to see the warrant. Felts handed the Mayor the warrant and he was reading it, when Felts shot him. Hatfield then killed Felts. The shooting became general. The crowd closing in around the detectives. Seven of them were killed and one, who ran into the Tug river, was shot. So far as I know, his body has not been recovered. Two others are believed to be hiding in the one mine near the village. Of the other two, I have had no trace in the reports made to me."

10 KILLED IN FIGHT BETWEEN MINERS AND COMPANY DETECTIVES

100 Deputies Control Matewan, W. Va., After Clashes Over Evictions From Houses—Chief of Agency Says Detectives Had Packed Up Their Winchesters, Company Says They Were Ambushed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MATEWAN, W. Va., May 20.—Following the killing of 10 men, seven of them private detectives and the three others citizens of this little coal mining village, last night in a revolver battle in the streets here between the detectives and former employees who have been "locked out" by the Stone Mountain Coal Co., quiet was being kept today by 100 Deputy Sheriffs armed with rifles.

Several detachments of the State constabulary are on the way here, and crowds of mine workers were congregated around the railroad station this morning awaiting their arrival. ### DETECTIVE CHIEF SAYS WINCHESTERS WERE PACKED AWAY

W. G. Baldwin States Men Were Preparing to Leave Town,
With Work Done.

By the Associated Press.

ROANOKE, Va., May 20.—W. G. Baldwin, general manager of the Baldwin-Felts Detective Agency, issued the following statement giving his version of the shooting affray at Matewan, last night:

"A. C. Felts with some eight or nine of our detectives were at Matewan doing some work for the coal operators. Their work was finished and they were on the street when the station preparing to take a train when Mr. Felts was approached by a man named Hatfield, and they got into some controversy. A shot was fired. Mr. Felts fell dead and the shooting then became general. A. C. Felts, B. B. Higgins, C. B. Cunningham, A. J. Bower, J. W. Ferguson, E. O. Powell and L. C. Felts were shot by an armed mob, secreted in houses and other points of advantage."

"The detectives were not apprehending any trouble and had packed up their Winchesters for shipment back to Bluefield and several officers had their pistols in their saddle bags. The attack came like a thunderbolt and the detectives were shot down almost in an instant. An eyewitness reported to our office in Bluefield that the morning after the shooting there were several of the detectives left to the ground they were riddled with bullets. One man with a pistol in each hand walked up to their dead bodies and emptied his pistols into them. He also stated that everything of value was taken from their bodies and they laid in the streets for an hour or more before the miners would allow their bodies to be approached."

"The statement that A. C. Felts shot by the Mayor and that some of our men saw the river and were shot in the river is a lie out of the whole cloth, and was evidently inspired by sympathizers of the striking miners."

"The above information has been furnished to our office from thoroughly reliable sources."

Mooney of the United Mine Workers' organization of District 17, declared that the Miners' Union started a short time ago to organize Mingo County, and succeeded in forming 12 or 14 locals with a membership of 3000.

"This terrible affray may prove a blessing in disguise," commented Mooney. "I firmly believe that it will mark the beginning of the end of the thus rule in some of the mining counties of the State."

"When coal companies were serving their notices Sheriff Blankenship called the miners who had been organized together, and inquired whom they preferred as the instrument of their eviction—the Sheriff's office or the detectives. The workers assured the Sheriff they would abide scrupulously by any judgment of the courts, and would interpose no obstacle to the execution of the law by Sheriff Blankenship."

"The Sheriff then gave the miners his word of honor that he would protect them from unlawful acts of the detective agency."

Slain Detective Figure in Colorado Strike Trouble in 1913.

DENVER, Colo., May 20.—Detective Albert C. Felts, who was killed in the miners' trouble at Matewan, W. Va., yesterday, figured prominently in the Ludlow strike troubles in Colorado in 1913.

At a congressional inquiry into the Ludlow troubles held here in February, 1914, it was learned that Felts was one of the detectives who were sent to Ludlow to evict the miners from their homes.

537 DELEGATES TO G. O. P. CONVENTION ARE UNINSTRUCTED

Forty-seven of 53 States and Possessions So Far Have Chosen 899 of 984 Who Will Sit in Meeting.

CONTESTS IN TWELVE STATES TO BE HEARD

Credentials Committee Will Assemble May 31 to Pass on Controversies Involving 104 Delegates.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, May 20.—With the Republican National Convention only 18 days away and 899 of the 984 delegates already elected the situation facing the Republican candidates is that no candidate will enter the convention with enough votes pledged to him to give any decided advantage over his opponent.

Forty-seven of the 53 States and Territories have chosen their delegates and are sending to Chicago 537 uninstructed delegates, 44 more than a majority of all those who will sit in the convention.

Major-General Leonard Wood, on the face of returns to date, shows the most strength on the first ballot, for of those delegates who have been instructed or who have expressed a preference, 145 are pledged to him. In addition he carried the preferential primary in Vermont, but that State's eight delegates have not yet been chosen by the State convention.

Johnson Closest Competitor. Wood's nearest competitor in the delegation already pledged is Senator Hiram Johnson of California, who commands an even hundred votes. Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, with 78 votes pledged to him, is third, while Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio has 59 votes from his home State.

There are, however, contests pending in 12 States and the District of Columbia, involving 104 delegates. Twenty-five of the contests are on Wood delegates, six on Lowden men and 63 among uninstructed delegations. The Credentials Committee will meet here May 31 to thresh out these contests.

Campaign managers at Chicago for the various candidates agree that there will be no nomination on the first ballot. The complimentary vote for the large list of "favorite sons" may, in fact, they say, be large that it will destroy the usual significance of the first ballot as an indicator of the strength of the various candidates.

Among those candidates who are expected to divide the uninstructed vote on the first ballot, in many cases commanding all or part of the delegates from their home States, are Gov. Sproul, Pennsylvania; Gov. Coolidge, Massachusetts; Senator Sunderland, West Virginia; Senator Poindexter, Washington; Senator La Follette, Wisconsin; Dr. Murray Nichols Butler, New York; Herbert Hoover, California, and Judge Pritchard, North Carolina. Senator Poindexter has 14 instructed votes from Washington; Judge Pritchard 17 from North Carolina; Gov. Coolidge 33 from Massachusetts, and the other candidates have, or expect to have, varying numbers.

Campaign managers here of the three candidates who are leading in delegates actually instructed, have made definite claims as to the vote they expect to receive in the convention. Wood's headquarters has issued a statement claiming he will have from 294 to 302 votes on the first ballot, that he will gain from 12 to 20 on the second ballot, and that he will be nominated on the third or fourth.

The Johnson managers here say reports from their workers throughout the country show they will have 315 votes on the first ballot and that the Senator will be nominated on the third or fourth.

Claims of Lowden Men. Lowden's managers give no estimate of how many votes they expect to have on the first ballot, but in a published statement have assured the Governor he will win the nomination with 522 votes. They predict the break in his favor will come after the third ballot.

Headquarters for a number of presidential candidates and for the various State delegations to the Republican National Convention were announced last night by managers of downtown hotels. Those of announced last night by managers were Wood, Hoover, Harding, Lowden, Coolidge, Butler and Poindexter are in the Congress Hotel. The quarters of the 48 State delegations are located in the various central district hotels.

Cost of the national convention will be at least 50 per cent more than the convention of 1916, according to Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the National Committee. He placed the total at $150,000.

Upham said the rule followed in the appointment of doorkeepers and ushers included men of the Civil War and late war and were not to be continued to service men of the late conflict.

"Company" Version of Fight Says Seven Detectives Were Ambushed.

SPECIAL TO THE POST-DISPATCH. CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 20.—A "company" version of the Matewan fight which reached here is as follows:

A strike had been on among the miners for several weeks, adherents of the union orders staying away from work and using their best efforts to prevent loyal men to enter the mines. The company had ordered the strikers to vacate the houses rented from them and the miners refused.

"Yesterday the detectives arrived, registered at the hotel and were making arrangements to forcibly evict the miners today. The detectives left the hotel last night and started for the railway station when they were surprised by miners firing from several directions. The seven detectives slain were ambushed. Their bodies were piled in the street near the railway station and there is no evidence to show that the officers fired in self-defense.

"Mayor Testaman, who was accompanying the detectives to the depot, was shot dead, as was also a boy who was passing the officers at the moment the attack opened. The miner was killed by bullets from weapons in the hands of his friends.

Union Head Asks Governor to Prevent Further Murderous Attacks.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 20.—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, here in connection with coal miners' wage negotiations, sent a telegram to Gov. Cornell of West Virginia today commenting on the disturbance last night at Matewan, and urging that measures to "prevent lawless activities" by "murderous hirelings of the coal operators" be taken. The telegram, as made public by Lewis, said in part:

"Press dispatches today tell of another shocking outrage in the long list of such incidents that have been perpetrated in your State by private detectives in the employ of coal corporations.

"For years the terrible evil of this system has been pointed out, but little or nothing has been done to insure to peaceable citizens the right to live.

"I desire once more to direct your attention to the failure of the State of West Virginia to afford protection to its citizens in the coal mining industry.

TELLS HOW NEGRO LURED WHITE GIRL

Cafe Waiter Describes Meeting of Dorsey Chambliss and Bertha Wiebeck.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, May 20.—The meeting of Bertha Wiebeck, 17-year-old white girl of Pawnee Rock, Kan., and Dorsey Chambliss, negro ex-convict, charged with luring her to a negro resort, was described by John Davis, waiter in a cafe, who resumed his testimony today.

The girl came in the cafe to use the telephone, Davis said, and Chambliss began a conversation with her. Later, he testified, he brought them drinks at a table in the cafe, at the request of Chambliss, though the girl said she wished nothing to drink. The testimony of Davis for the prosecution will be followed by that of James Murphy, negro, who testified that he saw Chambliss and the girl in the cafe, and that he saw Chambliss with the girl in a room at the hotel.

Catherine Schauer testified that Bertha came to Chicago with her from Hutchinson, Kan. "One day I received a note from her from the Ross home," Mrs. Schauer testified. "It was refused admittance to the house and went to a police station for help. Two detectives went with me to the place and we removed Bertha to the county hospital."

The girl died a few days after reaching the hospital.

Lincoln Eyre Articles in Pamphlet. For the first time since the end of the war, November, 1918, a correspondent has succeeded in thoroughly investigating the conditions in Russia and the results of Bolshevism. Lincoln Eyre, the Paris correspondent of the New York World and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, entered Russia last November. He spent three months studying the results of the rule of Lenin and Trotsky. Mr. Eyre has seen Russia from the inside and has witnessed all the workings of the "Red" regime. He approached his task with an impartial mind and his conclusions may be relied upon as giving a true picture of the Russian situation today.

Special articles from Mr. Eyre printed in the Post-Dispatch have been grouped and issued in pamphlet form. Any reader of the Post-Dispatch who is interested in the subject may have a copy if he will send his name and address, together with 3 cents in postage stamps to cover cost of mailing. ## MOVEMENT OF FREIGHT 75 PCT. OF NORMAL HERE

Report Submitted to I. C. C. at Washington by Investigators Yesterday in St. Louis District.

CONDITIONS NOT SO BAD HERE AS IN EAST

Exodus of Switchmen to Other Lines of Work a Factor in Congestion, Survey Indicates.

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Incomplete reports from inspectors of the Interstate Commerce Commission assigned to the St. Louis district today showed that freight congestion there, though not so critical as in New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago, is working a serious hardship on shippers and the public generally. The railroads, according to the reports, are making a genuine effort to improve conditions.

The switchmen's strike, more than any other factor, is blamed by the investigators for the tieup in the St. Louis yards. Interpreting the reports received from that center, officials of the service bureau of the commission said today that conditions would now be close to normal had it not been for the walkout in April. A disheartening feature of the situation, it was said, was the fact that employees were leaving the railroad yards to go into better-paid employment.

Many Cars Await Unloading. The reports show further that new men are steadily being employed, but point out that their inexperience has reduced the efficiency of the yards.

An inspector on the Illinois Central reported, on May 15, that there were 700 cars daily in the coal fields, as against a normal average of 1200. On the same road, 150 cars of coal were found delayed in East St. Louis on account of failure of other roads to receive them, and 350 cars of miscellaneous commodities delayed on account of terminal railroad congestion.

One hundred and twenty cars were found delayed in East St. Louis on account of failure of other roads to receive them, and 350 cars of miscellaneous commodities delayed on account of terminal railroad congestion.

Report on Car Movement. Though not minimizing the gravity of the situation, the Car Service Commission, another organization which has been receiving daily reports on freight congestion from St. Louis and other cities, took a more optimistic view than that generally expressed at Interstate Commerce Commission headquarters. The Car Service Commission, built up under the Railroad Administration, is now functioning as the Association of Railway Executives.

Advices from St. Louis at 1 p. m. yesterday stated that the freight movement in and through the terminal was now 75 per cent of normal. This percentage, the commission said, was practically the same as that of the preceding day, but represented a material improvement over conditions a week ago.

The opinion was expressed, based on reports from 59 railroads throughout the country, that further easing of the situation would be shown. Labor troubles were assigned as the primary cause of the congestion.

BANK ROBBERS WOUND MAN, GET $12,000 CASH AND BONDS

By the Associated Press. TOLEDO, O., May 20.—In true "Wild Western" style, six bandits this morning shot up the main street of Delta, O., near here, seriously wounding James Warner, a baker, and escaped with $12,000 in cash and Liberty Bonds.

Townpeople scurried for shelter as the bandits sped through the main street in a touring car, shooting in all directions. More than 50 shots were fired.

Entering the bank, the bandits slugged Mark Casler, the assistant cashier, with a revolver, rendering him unconscious. Other employees were forced into a back room. The robbers escaped toward Toledo.

MULLIGAN SENTENCED FOR FIVE YEARS; GOT $160,000 BY FORGERY

It was charged that Mulligan borrowed money from the bank on bills of lading which he represented as being genuine evidence of his possession and shipment of cotton, and these bills of lading falsely purported to bear the names of agents of railroads over which the cotton was represented to have been shipped.

On De Valera Committee.

While a policeman was hunting for Mulligan on the day of his arrest, Mulligan was acting as a member of the Executive Committee for the reception of De Valera, the "President of the Irish Republic," who spent the day in St. Louis. After his arrest two more indictments were voted, bringing the total to six.

Mulligan had been in business for himself as a cotton broker 10 years and before that for about 15 years he had been connected with various firms in the same line. He was noted locally as a tender singer, and was one of the founders of the Knights of Columbus, St. Louis chapter. He also had been a member of the Apollo Club and the Choral Symphony Society, and had sung in several Catholic Church choirs.

Mulligan after his arrest, when interviewed by a Post-Dispatch reporter, said he knew nothing of forgeries and that the bills of lading had come to him, and he sent them to the bank, thinking they were "all right."

BOLSHEVISM MISCONSTRUED IN U. S., MAJ.-GEN. GRAVES SAYS

"They Are Trying to Be Eminentally Fair and Just to the People," American Officer Declares.

By the Associated Press. MIAMI, Fla., April 24.—Bolshevism is a word that is badly misconstrued in the United States, says Major-General William S. Graves, commander in chief of the American Expeditionary Force, which recently evacuated Siberia.

"At the mention of a Bolshevik the people instantly conjure a mental picture of a frowzy anarchist with a bomb in one hand and a torch in the other," he said. "But the Bolsheviks in Russia are working for peace and the good of the country. In my belief they are trying to be eminentally fair and just to the people. They have deplored the murder and bloodshed which took place before they came to power, and in Siberia—January 31 of this year—and are doing everything possible to stamp this out."

PISTON RING PATENT AWARDED TO MACHINIST

tioned by a Post-Dispatch reporter today that Ford had no claim in the case.

"The decision, so far as I can see, only affects the heat treatment," he said, "and rings are now being produced by other methods. Ford was my foreman. He did all his work under my direction, and his experiments were carried out at my instructions. My motive in starting the Inland works primarily was to make rings of the sort, and I tried every conceivable experiment. Ford was paid to make them for me."

Ottmar G. Stark, who bought the Inland Works from Flammang and is now president of the concern, also took over the patent rights from Flammang and obtained shop rights on the invention from Ford. He said today that the decision was only an examiner's report and would have no effect whatever upon the Inland company. Stark was vice president of the company when the ring was invented.

"Ford was working for us at the time the patent was applied for," he said, "and I secured the rights to other processes as well, and even if Ford was granted a patent on the ring it would not interfere with the making of the rings by other means."

He said that the piston rings now are sold at about $1.25 each to the consumer.

To Appeal Decision. John D. Rippey of the firm of Rippey & Kingsland, attorneys for Flammang in the patent case, said that the decision is practically one from the lowest tribunal of the patent office, and that the decision will now have to go to the examiner-in-chief and then to the Commissioner of Patents. Should a decision adverse to his client be handed down, the case will be taken to the court of appeals in the District of Columbia, then to the United States District Court and finally to the United States Court of Appeals before a final judgment will be accepted.

Attorney Kingsland added that under the question of shop rights alone, wherein an article made in the shop of an employer by an employee is the property of the employer, that the decision would be in favor of Flammang's patent.

Ford is now getting about $300 monthly as master mechanic in the glass plant. He said that the reason he did not at once try to secure a patent himself was because he had no capital when the ring was invented and his discovery of the fact that Flammang had applied for a patent was made June 16, 1916.

Flammang now lives at 7250 Maryland avenue, St. Louis county. Ottmar G. Stark, present owner of the Inland concern, lives at 4663 Flora boulevard.

John H. Brunsing of the Arcade Building is attorney for Ford in the other case.

He said that the examiner's finding spoke for itself and that his client, having been granted priority of invention in the interference suit, would pursue all necessary legal means to protect his interests.

ROADS WANT 23.19 PER CENT INCREASE IN MISSOURI RATE

Special to the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, May 20.—Nine trunk-line railroads operating in Missouri applied to the State Public Service Commission today for an increase in interstate freight rates amounting to 23.19 per cent.

The roads which signed the application are the Santa Fe, Chicago & Great Western, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, Rock Island, Kansas City Southern, Missouri, Kansas & Texas, Missouri & North Arkansas, and the Missouri Pacific.

An application for a similar increase on interstate business is pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

HOUSE GETS BONUS BILL WITH TAX ON STOCK DIVIDENDS

Ways and Means Committee, Reporting Favorably, Would Make 10 Per Cent Levy Begin March 15.

80 PER CENT WAR PROFITS TAX BEATEN

Bill as Approved by Caucus Would Give Men $1 a Day for Service in U. S. and $1.25 Overseas.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 20.—The House Ways and Means Committee today reported a favorable report on the soldier relief bill, with a provision levying a 10 per cent stock dividend tax retroactive to last March 15.

Adoption of the tax provision by a margin of one vote, precipitated such a fight in the committee that the committee also reported a favorable report on the bill was delayed, with opponents of the stock tax seeking reconsideration.

The committee also refused by a strict party vote to accept an 80 per cent retroactive war profits tax, proposed by Democratic committee members.

Democratic efforts to provide for beginning of the cash bonus payments immediately on enactment instead of July 1, 1921, were defeated. The Republicans also voted down a motion to make the bill conform to American Legion relief plans.

Representative Longworth, Republican, Ohio, led the fight against the stock tax, declaring in committee that it was unwise peace-time legislation.

The soldier relief legislation was approved by a caucus of House Republicans last night. Democratic committee members, reinforced by some Republicans, early planned to make a final effort to amend the provisions by offering an additional plan to tax stock dividends.

After its approval by the committee, Chairman Fordney of Michigan expected to ask the Rules Committee to give legislative preference to the bill. This would assure consideration in the House either Saturday or Monday. Leaders said, however, that the bill, if approved by the House, stood little chance of being passed by the Senate before the recess, June 5.

Bill Approved 116 to 39. The bill approved by a vote of 116 to 39 in the caucus provides for payment of adjusted compensation at $1 for each day's domestic service and $1.25 for each day's foreign service with a maximum individual grant of $500 for domestic service and $625 for foreign service. Other provisions include a plan for paid-up insurance, home and farm aid, vocational education and extension of priority right to settle lands, the total amount to individual loans granted under this section being $1000. Payments will be based on service from April 6, 1917, to July 1, 1919, and would begin April 1, 1921, and continue quarterly for three years.

Republican indorsement last night followed a five-hour wrangle aimed principally at the section covering the so-called Lane-Mondell land grant. After failure of the caucus to eliminate the section, the bill was finally approved.

Many Democratic Candidates Available, Says Bryan

NEW YORK, May 20.

THE following telegram, received by the New York World from W. J. Bryan, in reply to the World's invitation to Bryan to define the man whom the Democrats should nominate for the Presidency:

MIAMI, Fla., May 19.—There are many available candidates among those who are, first, against Wall street and the reactionaries; second, for prohibition as the permanent policy of the country and for the enforcement of the Volstead law, and, third, for woman suffrage. No one is available who is not sound on these three propositions.

I do not care to express a preference among the available candidates until after the Chicago convention. The action of the Republicans may materially affect relative availability.

W. J. BRYAN.

STUDENTS WHO PUT COW IN LIBRARY, DISMISSED

Samuel Laird of Cairo, Ill., and Franklin Walton of Alton, Ill., students of McKendree College, Lebanon, Ill., were dishonorably dismissed by the faculty yesterday evening for placing a cow in the college library.

The two, however, denied that they had placed the cow in the library. The two confessed after evidence had been gathered by a St. Louis detective, who mingled with students at a poolroom, which pointed to the probable complicity of several others. The two, however, denied that they had placed the cow in the library.

A crowd of students accompanied the two to the car line and cheered them as they departed for home.

Laird was a senior and the ranking boy student at the college and had been graduated with high honors in three weeks. Walton was a freshman, a bright student and proficient in athletics. Students are circulating a petition for a rehearing.

The cow episode was the culmination of a series of student misdeeds. The vote at the faculty meeting, which lasted more than two hours, is said to have been 14 to 3 for expulsion.

U. S. FORBIDS AUSTRIA TO RELEASE HUNGARIAN PRISONERS

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, May 20.—Hungarian Communists held by the Austrian authorities must not be transferred to Russia without the approval of the United States Government, the State Department said today.

The views of this Government, Secretary Coby announced, are in accord with those of other Governments on the subject of the proposed outright release of the Hungarian Communists to Russia by the Austrian Government.

Reports from various sources have reached the State Department of the forcible detention in Russia of American citizens. Lacking official relations between any of the principal Governments of the world and soviet Russia, diplomatic representations have been impossible, as no channel of communication offered, officials said, and the United States has therefore undertaken to bring in direct pressure to bear.

EMPTY CARS SENT WEST FOR FUEL AND FOOD FOR THE EAST

Pennsylvania Railroad Moving Only Trains of Empty Cars Out of New York for 48 Hours.

LIKE EMBARGOES BY OTHER LINES LIKELY

Acute Situation in East as Result of Car Shortage and Freight Tie-Up; Some Plants Close.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 20.—In an effort to move eastward vast supplies of food and fuel held in the West because of lack of railroad equipment, the Pennsylvania Railroad today began sending westward long trains of empty box and gondola cars. All out-going freight has been halted by the Pennsylvania for 48 hours. It is expected that during the day other roads also will place short time embargoes into effect. The car shortage, coupled with labor disturbances on the railroads, is rapidly creating an acute situation here, it is said by business men, who assert that building operations are being seriously affected. Announcement was made by the Merchants' Association yesterday that a number of additional manufacturing establishments had been forced to close, perhaps indefinitely, unless something drastic was done to relieve the situation. One large contracting firm reported that five out of its nine building operations had been halted because of inability to secure supplies, and cited the fact that it had waited two months to get a carload of steel from Youngstown, O., and one month for a carload of bricks from Trenton, N. J., the latter place just a few hours' run from New York.

Use of Southern Ports Suggested to Relieve Export Traffic.

By the Associated Press.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 20.—Headquarters in Louisville of railroads with Southern port connections have sent telegrams broadcast to connecting lines from Pittsburgh to San Francisco announcing free movement of freight in the South, and suggesting the use of Gulf and South Atlantic terminals for the movement of export business as one means of relieving freight congestion in the East, Middle West and West. The telegrams assert that seven Southern ports, New Orleans, Mobile, Jacksonville, Brunswick, Savannah, Charleston and Norfolk are open, and that export business can be handled if lines at Ohio River crossings, St. Louis or Memphis could be reached.

R. L. McKellar, foreign freight traffic manager, Southern Railroad, said: "The logic of the situation is with the South, where two loaded cars are moving North to one load being sent to the South. This necessarily means an empty haul South, and lost motion, and added material to the freight jam north of the Ohio River."

MRS. GELHORN AGAIN HEADS LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

By the Associated Press.
JOPLIN, Mo., May 20.—Mrs. George Gelhorn of St. Louis was re-elected president of the Missouri League of Women Voters at the afternoon session of the organization's first congress here. Other officers elected include Mrs. E. F. Bush of St. Louis, second vice president; Mrs. Hugh Stevens of Jefferson City, third vice president, and Mrs. E. W. Six of St. Louis, treasurer.

The only action of political significance taken by the convention was embodied in a resolution instructing officers of the league to "continue to demand and to hold for the women of Missouri all political recognition which is justly theirs." This resolution was adopted chiefly because of rumors that were current that the two women delegates-at-large from Missouri to the national convention at Chicago might not be seated.

ST. LOUIS UNIVERSITY TO GIVE PAGEANT AT ODEON TONIGHT

The descriptive pageant, "Alma Mater," in commemoration of the hundredth anniversary of the founding of St. Louis University, will have its first presentation at the Odeon tonight. It will be repeated Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday afternoon. It will have a cast of about 400, most of the men performers being students and alumni of the university, while the feminine roles will be taken by convent students and alumnae.

There will be three acts and 26 scenes, each of which will represent some episode or phase in the life and history of the university and its influence on education and community life in the Middle West. It opens with a scene representing the landing of the Jesuit founders of the university in St. Louis and their reception by the Indians.

The Knights of Columbus Choral Club and members of several church choirs will take part and there will be several incidental dance numbers with Misses Leonora Cahill, Cornelia McNair and Florence Warner as the solo dancers.

MEXICAN PAPERS REPORT CARRANZA AT ZACATLAN

State Department Informed
Obregon Returned to Mexico City Without Confering With Generals.

PLANS FOR SESSION OF CONGRESS STAND

Revolutionists Said to Have Taken State of Colima—
Villa Emissary to Meet With Calles.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 20.—Mexico City papers yesterday reported that Carranza was at Zacatlan, east of Mexico City in the direction of the Tuxpam oil district, today's State Department summary said. They also reported Gen. Obregon as returning to Mexico City from San Luis Potosi without having completed his proposed trip to Tampico for conference there with Generals Arnulfo Gomez and Manuel Palafox.
Preliminary arrangements for an extra session of the Mexican Congress May 24 continue and it was said the Gonzalez party probably would nominate Gen. Obregon as its candidate for President. Before the revolution Gonzalez and Obregon were rivals for the Presidency.
Sanchez Azcona, temporarily in charge of the Mexican Foreign Office, was quoted as saying he would not accept the provisional Presidency.
Advices from Manzanillo said revolutionary forces took over the State of Colima May 11 and that Gen. J. M. Ferrera, Supreme Chief in the State, with 700 troops under his command, had given guarantees of law and order. It was expected that railway communication from Manzanillo to the Mexican capital would be restored in a few days.

Villa to Send Emissary to Meet With Gen. Calles.

CHIHUAHUA CITY, Mexico, May 20.—Francisco Villa has agreed to send an emissary to Chihuahua to confer with Gen. P. Elias Calles, according to a telegram received by Gen. Calles from Boquilla, southwest of Santa Rosalia. Villa will be represented by Alfonso Gomez, who will carry documents from Villa.

Gen. Calles arrived at Chihuahua yesterday. Hundreds were gathered at the station to greet him. Neatly uniformed soldiers from the garrison, standing at attention, lined one mile of the Avenida Alameda, over which the General was later taken to the Governor's Palace, and where a reception was held.

Six trainloads of troops, under Gen. Rosquin Amaro and Francisco B. Serrano, reached Mexico City Tuesday. These were the first northern revolutionary troops to enter the capital, according to Col. H. Y. Alameda, chief of staff in Chihuahua, who also announced that Gen. Antonio L. Vallarta left Saltillo Tuesday night for Monterey. Gen. Villareal has been appointed military commander of the States of Coahuila, Tamaulipas and Nuevo Leon, and will have his headquarters at Monterrey, which is the capital of the latter state.

De La Huerta's Attitude on Provisional President.
By the Associated Press.
EL PASO, Tex., May 20.—Answering a telegram sent Tuesday by several Obregonistas, asking Adolfo de la Huerta what his attitude would be regarding the naming of a provisional President, Gov. de la Huerta said, according to a statement given out yesterday by the Mexican Consulate here:

"I will be satisfied with any provisional President named by the Mexican Congress. Just so long as he is a true revolutionist and competent to carry to an end the work entrusted to him."

FOUR STATES SUFFERED TEN PER CENT OF ARMY LOSSES

Missouri, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska Had 25,000 Casualties, Maj. Bahrenberg Says.
Men from Missouri, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska, comprising District No. 9 of the United States Public Health Service, suffered 10 per cent of the 250,000 casualties in the army section of the A. E. F., and including the men of the Marine Corps and navy from this district there were about 25,000 casualties during the war among men of these four states. This was the statement of Maj. L. H. Bahrenberg before the members' conference luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday at the American Annex.

Maj. Bahrenberg is in charge of the two hospitals of the Public Health Service in St. Louis. He advocated making this city the chief hospital center of his service in this district by building a large modern hospital, doing away with the old Marine Hospital and returning the one at 5800 Arsenal street to the city for its original purpose as an infirmary. There are 30 admissions a day to the two hospitals, he said, and the one on Arsenal street has an average of 475 patients.

He said St. Louis would make as good a place as any in several Western states for a tuberculosis hospital for most cases.

WHITE CLEARED OF
$2500 LARCENY CHARGEBroker Shows Man Who Brought Action In Fact Owed
Him $2500.By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 20.—Magistrate Simms, sitting in the Bronx, yesterday dismissed the charge of grand larceny brought in March last by Julius Reibert, a builder, against Abraham White. The case has been repeatedly adjourned and several hundred pages of testimony have been taken.

Reibert claimed he had given White $2500 for 100 shares of stock in a company which White was organizing and that he had never received the stock. In his defense White admitted receiving $2500 but showed that he had made a loan of $1250 on the stock held by Reibert and that Reibert still owed him $1250 on the stock.

White produced his cancelled checks for the money he had loaned on the receipts. He also showed that under his agreement with Reibert he was not obligated to deliver the stock until April 1, as it had been expressly stipulated that, after issued, it was to be left with White until that date in a pool to be formed to market the stock.

Franklin Bein, attorney for White, said yesterday that he would at once bring an action on behalf of his client against Reibert for $100,000 damages for false arrest and malicious prosecution. He brought a similar action for White recently against Mrs. Anna Havenor after she had caused White's arrest and indictment in connection with a $1500 stock deal. Bein states that Mrs. Havenor is now in default in the civil action and that she has left town. "I shall make application tomorrow," said Attorney Bein, "to examine the grand jury minutes in the Havenor case and shall then ask for the dismissal of the Havenor indictment or the speedy trial of my client. The Havenor case, I am convinced, would have been dismissed by the Magistrate just as the Reibert case was but after starting in the Magistrate's court the District Attorney took it away from Magistrate and before a grand jury, where my client was unable to put in his defense."

White has had a spectacular career in Wall street and has put over some big deals. He figured prominently in the development of wireless telegraphy and in 1919 laid information before the Government which resulted in the conviction of a gang of wireless telegraphy stock swindlers. While at the height of his career in 1908 he bought Shadow Lawn, the palatial residence of John McCall at Long Branch, and lived there three years. Some bills he owed at the time he sold the place, he states, were later paid in full. He testified in the Magistrate's court that he had never been convicted of a crime.

VAUDEVILLE SHOW TO BE GIVEN
FOR CHURCH BUILDING BENEFITSt. Philip Neri Catholic Institution
Organized Recently by the Rev.
Fr. Thomas D. Kennedy.

A vaudeville show for the benefit of the new church and school building of St. Philip Neri Catholic Church will be held at 8 p. m. tomorrow at Sacred Heart Hall, Twenty-fifth street and St. Louis avenue. St. Philip Neri Church was organized recently by Father Thomas D. Kennedy, who was chaplain of the 138th (St. Louis) Infantry, A. E. F., and later of the Thirty-sixth Division. It is at present meeting in a store room at West Florissant and Geraldine avenues.

The new church building will probably be started within two weeks and be completed by September. Father Kennedy said. It will cost $70,000 and will be built of brick. A site for it has been obtained on Thekla avenue, between Queens and Durant avenues. Former members of the 138th Regiment are assisting Father Kennedy with the entertainment.

Webster Fire Chief Resigns.
John Gruening, who has been Fire Chief and Building Inspector at Webster Groves, resigned yesterday from the Fire Department to become a candidate for St. Louis County Treasurer, and was succeeded as chief by Frank Lenz of 699 Oaklawn avenue.

TRUCK TRAIN REACHES SOUTHERN TERMINUS

Machines Ferried Across River at Cape Girardeau for Start Home Today.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., May 20.—Rolling smoothly over the splendid roads of Cape Girardeau County, the ship-by-truck caravan reached here at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, an hour and a half ahead of schedule. It was the first time during the entire trip that the expedition had been able to keep up with the schedule.

Cape Girardeau, 163 miles from St. Louis, marks the southern terminus of the route. Last night the trucks were ferried across the Mississippi River ready for an early start today on the return trip through Illinois.

Immediately upon reaching town the tour disbanded and those trucks which carried freight consigned to Cape Girardeau made delivery and picked up return loads. Up to this time the tour has been more in the nature of a good roads boost but yesterday the "ship-by-truck" feature predominated. About 40 tons of freight was unloaded here and the Cape Girardeau Commercial Company had provided 75 tons to be taken back to St. Louis and Illinois towns. Only about 50 tons could be accommodated.

Loads Were Diversified.
The freight brought in was very diversified, including Budweiser, chicken feed, print paper, automobile tires, storage batteries, overalls, dry goods and soap from St. Louis shippers. One of the trucks carried two tons of Bailey delivery bodies to a local dealer. The most unusual load is a Grant touring car loaded on a Leudinghaus chassis. Many predicted trouble for the truck because of its load, but its performance has been a surprise.

At Perryville, a Diamond T. and Denby discharged their load and picked up a shipment of two truck loads of wool consigned to the Arnold S. Mather Commission Co., 704 N. Fourth street, St. Louis. The bulk of the freight taken on here was woodenware, ax handles and mill work in small lots. Local merchants say that because of the freight and express congestion, the trucks would make delivery 10 days to two weeks quicker than through the ordinary channels.

Meetings were held at Longtown, Appleton and Jackson, the latter being the noon control. The splendid enthusiasm of the day before continued. At every cross road dozens of farmers gathered to watch the trucks pass. At Jackson all business was suspended and schools dismissed, and an immense crowd gathered in the courthouse yard to hear the speaking.

Parade and Meeting.
At Cape Girardeau the trucks re-assembled at 6:30 and headed by a band, paraded through the downtown section. At the meeting which followed the principal good roads speakers were:

Charles H. Daues, City Counsellor of St. Louis, who was a former resident of Cape Girardeau, and Raymond A. Walsh, Judge of the County Court of St. Louis County, and manager of the Federated Good Roads Council of Missouri.

Ray S. Rauschkolb, manager of the St. Louis "Ship-by-Truck" Bureau, brought a personal message from H. S. Firestone, originator of the ship-by-truck movement, that has now taken on national scope. Robert E. Lee, tour commander, presided at the meeting.

MAN AND WOMAN INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

W. C. Garthoffner Hurt When Machines Collide—Miss Katherine Waigan Struck When Crossing Street.

William C. Garthoffner, 20 years old, of 4544 Laclede avenue, suffered injuries to the spine and internal hurts at 5 p. m. yesterday when an automobile he was driving south in Union boulevard was struck head-on by an automobile driven by Otto Sterling, 4714 Beacon avenue, who had turned into Union after driving east in Lillian avenue.

Sterling said he was compelled to make the turn on the west side of Union boulevard because a north-bound Union car was approaching. Garthoffner was thrown back into the rear of his machine.

Katherine Waigan, 22, of 1725 South Tenth street, was struck by an automobile driven by Elmer Keith, 523 Fillmore street, at Seventh street and Geyer avenue at 6 p. m. She was taken to the city hospital suffering from a fractured leg and internal injuries. Keith said Miss Waigan stepped directly in the path of his machine.

MUDHOLE ON COUNTY ROAD TRAPS BOYS WITH STOLEN AUTO

A mud hole near the Bellefontaine Farms, on the Bellefontaine road north of the city, trapped five boys who had taken the automobile of James Gamble, 6035 Clemens avenue, from Third and Chestnut streets for a "joy ride" yesterday.

They were trying to get the machine out of the hole when a Deputy Sheriff and two St. Louis detectives, on their way to the farm, saw them and got out to lend a hand. The boys started to run. Their action caused the policemen to take charge of all five and on examination discovered the machine was stolen.

Two of the boys, William Jones, 16 years old, of 4516 Maffitt avenue, and Glenn Allen, 14, 4734 Labadie avenue, admitted the possession, taking the car from its parking place and picking up the other three later. They were taken to the House of Detention and the others turned over to their parents. Jones, the police say, was recently paroled from the Juvenile Court.

GIRLS' HOME TO BE DEDICATED

Several hundred women are expected to attend the dedication and formal opening of the Salvation Army Boarding Home for Working Girls at 1224 Dillon street, tomorrow afternoon. The Red Cross, the Y. W. C. A., Knights of Columbus and the W. C. T. U. will be represented by speakers. The home will house 70 working girls, who will be given board and lodging at cost. Adj. Jennie Matchett of the Chicago Salvation Army Girls' Home, will be matron of the institution.

The home was remodeled and furnished on borrowed money and Salvationists hope to raise the debt with funds from the financial campaign of next week when business and professional men will seek $121,500 to maintain the activities of the Army in St. Louis.

CROSS-QUESTIONS FAIL TO SHAKE SLAYER OF COUSIN

Jennie Zimmerman Renews Protestations of Love for Doctor and Says She Sought to Defend Self.

UNDERGOES SEVERE TEST OF MEMORY

Testifies She First Quarreled
With Him When She Saw
Another Girl's Picture on
His Dressing Table in 1917

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 20.—
Miss Jennie Zimmerman, charged with the murder of her cousin, Dr.
Zimmerman, stepped from the witness stand yesterday with her story unshaken. If any particular. The cross-questioning, that began the previous day was most severe. Miss Zimmerman made no attempt to condone her moral lapses. At all times, she insisted, she had submitted only because she believed that Dr. Zimmerman, despite many shortcomings, would marry her. She insisted she had been wholly loyal to him. The District Attorney jumped from one point in the testimony to another and generally to a subject which bore no relation to the preceding question.

At times his queries came so fast that Miss Zimmerman asked him to repeat them. In a memory test which would have unnerved an experienced witness, the defendant proved herself a match for the seasoned solicitor. She reiterated declarations of love for the man she killed and maintained that she shot him solely in self-defense.

The most dramatic part of the cross-examination came unexpectedly.
Suddenly leaning forward, the District Attorney said: "You punished him quite severely for it, don't you think?"

"No," the defendant cried. "I think I was the one who was punished. I think I was the one who had suffered."

"Was it an accident?"
"I tell you I didn't think of defending myself until he put his hand to his hip pocket and said: 'Don't you do—' tell her (Miss Sadie Feldman) 'I'll blow your brains out.' I told you I was afraid of him—he was very angry and I thought he meant to kill me. I am telling you what I know."

"Then it was an accident?" the District Attorney insisted.
"I don't know what you would call it," Miss Zimmerman countered,
"but I know I was trying to defend myself."

The loose Miss Zimmerman made to the doctor at different times were taken up by the District Attorney in an attempt to make her contradict testimony already given. The young woman denied that at the time she borrowed money to lend to the doctor she bought larger quantities of supplies for her store than she was wont to do ordinarily.

The defendant first began to have quarrels with Zimmerman in 1917, when she saw the photograph of Sadie Feldman on the doctor's dressing table, she testified. Further quarreling was brought on, she said, when she saw the doctor taking other women out in his automobile.

"But you had no right to question his going out with other women, had you?" asked the Prosecutor.

The defendant replied that she thought she had "plenty of right."
"If he had promised to marry me,
what right did he have to take out other women in his automobile?"
The case is not expected to go to the jury before tomorrow.

WOMAN SUES TO SET ASIDE HUSBAND'S $7000 DEED TO GIRL

Mrs. Blanch L. Warrin Alleges Miss
Hilda Mulhall Got Property for Unlawful Consideration.

Mrs. Blanch L. Warrin of Chicago yesterday filed suit to set aside a deed of trust held by Miss Hilda
Mulhall, 18 years old, of 5636 West
Pine boulevard, against property owned by John A. Warrin, a dentist, who is the plaintiff's husband.

The petition alleges that Miss Mul-hall, by duress forced Warrin to execute the deed, amounting to $7000, and that it was for an unlawful consideration. The deed was filed in the Recorder's office last February and recites that it is in payment for an injury done to Miss Mulhall by Warrin. She was employed in his office. Miss Mulhall, the petition states, testified in "favor of Warrin at divorce proceedings between him and his wife. A decree was denied in the case. The Warrins lived at 1666 Botanical avenue.
He is now at Fruitland, Fla.

400,000 SKUNK OFFERED AT FUR EXCHANGE TODAY

Skunk, for years a victim of such prejudice that it was sold as "black martin," but now ascended under its own name, to place among the most popular furs, is the chief offering today of the sale at the International Fur Exchange. There are 400,000 pelts catalogued.

The status of the skunk also has changed in the opinion of the farmer, who once placed a price on its head. The skunk now ranks sec-

ADVERTISEMENTS

"Furniture Manu- facturers Increase Prices After June First."

Furniture will cost more after June 1 because of the increased cost of labor and raw material, such as lumber, upholstery, springs, mirrors and nearly every item used in furniture.

Many manufacturers have issued new advanced price lists to take effect June
1. Any reductions or discounts that are being made by furniture retailers at the present time are taken out of their profits, and it is not because they can purchase this furniture for less at the factory in the next few months.

The Proffrock-Litton Furniture Company, at Fourth and St. Charles streets, are making reductions of 20 per cent and 25 per cent on many styles of furniture during their Profit-Sharing Sale, and the public is sharing in the profits of this furniture while the sale lasts.

You will make no mistake in taking advantage of this reduction if you need furniture during the month of June or July, as we wish to repeat that furniture is going to be higher in price of the fact that people say that prices are going down on many other commodities.

The Proffrock-Litton sale will possibly close next Saturday, May 29.

"FUEL-IZER"—The Motor Miracle

Unique Demonstration

Tonight, Tomorrow and Saturday
OPEN EVENINGS

Glass top on Fuelizer will reveal wonderful principle which makes any gasoline a perfect fuel

FOR the first time the public will see a working demonstration of the most remarkable device the automobile industry has ever known.

The Fuelizer—the product of Packard genius—will be shown in actual operation on a Packard Twin Six car.

Many public announcements have already been made explaining the remarkable and revolutionary accomplishments of this new device.

It not only insures efficient performance on present day fuel, but gives insurance to motor-car owners against difficulties the future may bring.

It dries and "breaks up" wet mixture. Complete combustion is certain.

It insures quick starting, winter or summer.

It does away with carbon deposits.

It prevents injurious dilution of lubricating oil on cylinder walls and in the crankcase—the chief cause of premature wear of engine and bearings.

A simple thing enough—yet one of the great outstanding achievements of all motor car history.

A Packard feature—exclusively Packard!

Come in and see the Fuelizer in action—see how raw gasoline usually pours into a motor. See how instantly the Fuelizer, when turned on, converts this into a dry, perfect mixture. This invitation is extended to the whole public.

An expert will be in charge to explain the marvelous principle of the Fuelizer.

WE will consider it a great privilege to arrange special demonstrations and technical lectures for scientific societies, clubs, colleges and associations.

The Fuelizer is standard equipment on every new Twin-Six

DANDRUFF SOON RUINS THE HAIR

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will ruin your hair and ruin it if you don't. It doesn't do much good to try to wash or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to destroy it, then you destroy it entirely. Do this, get about four ounces of salicylic acid and apply it at night, when retiring; use enough to cover the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get salicylic acid at any drug store. It is expensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

SILK OVEREXPLOITED, SAYS MANUFACTURER

J. R. McMullen Expects to See Prices of Luxury Return to Recent High Plane.

Conditions resulting in the recent decline in the price of silk in this country were discussed today by J. R. McMullen of New York, a director of the National Association of Silk Manufacturers, in session here, and one of the leading manufacturers of fine shirts in the United States. McMullen blamed efforts of the Japanese to manipulate the silk market of the world. Other factors, he said, were a slump in European purchase of silks due to the unfavorable rate of exchange, inferior wearing qualities of silk shirts made by some manufacturers in this country who thus sought to produce a more popular price garment, and unseasonable weather.

Summarizing the entire situation, McMullen said it was simply a case of silk speculators overplaying their hands and that when the present movement of price-slashing happens come exhausted silk prices would return to the recent high plane. Result of Sudden Demand. "Silk is a luxury that has been overexploited," McMullen declared. "The silk shirt is a luxury, and when worn must be of good quality. War conditions and increased wages caused silk shirts to be worn by many men as much for utility as appearance. The sudden demand for silk shirts caused many manufacturers to make up fabrics not intended for practical use, causing disappointment to the wearer.

"One of the chief causes of the recent slump in prices of silk shirts is that so much capital was required to exploit this branch of his business that it required a constant and rapid turnover of his stock, and the present unseasonable weather has retarded his business to such an extent that he sacrificed his stock to realize ready money.

"Silk shirts are being sold considerably under the actual cost of replacement, and when normal conditions are resumed in the silk market the cost of replacing garments now being sold will be greatly in excess of present prices.

Japanese Manipulated Market. "Another cause of the recent decline in silk prices is due to efforts of the Japanese to manipulate the world's silk markets. Recently it was understood immense stocks of raw silk were held in this country, but it was impossible to estimate the value or amount involved as it was generally understood it was held in bond by Japanese capital. "There has been a great demand among European countries for silk, but due to the unfavorable rate of exchange their purchases have been restricted, leaving a greater supply of material in this country than could be absorbed at prices prevailing prior to the recent change, so that Japanese holders of this material also were forced to liquidate. "It is a repetition of the old story that when any article of wearing apparel or any necessity of life reaches a level where it ceases to be consistent it immediately reacts to its normal or practical basis. Its reaction is in proportion to its inconsistency.

Auto Makes Use Cotton. McMullen stated that the flurry in silks cannot be interpreted as indicative of a similar condition in the market of fine cotton textiles. Increased wages and shorter working hours, which lessened production, have combined to create a shortage of cotton fabrics intended for wearing apparel, he said, and a fact he declared not generally understood by the public was that the automobile industry would consume, providing they could secure it, nearly 2,000,000 bales of the best cotton raised in this country—the identical kind of cotton required for the better grade of wearing apparel for men and women.

"It is a generally understood fact that when an individual requires an adjunct to his automobile which requires the use of cotton, such as tires, tops or upholstery, he does not hesitate to pay the price asked of him," McMullen said, "and so long as these luxuries of life are maintained at high prices the cost of necessities such as wearing apparel naturally remains high with them."

SENATOR GARDNER TO RUN AGAIN

Has Been in Senate 16 Years Will Have Prosecutor as Opponent. A. E. L. Gardner of Clayton, a Republican who has served 16 years as State Senator from the Twenty-fifth District, filed for re-nomination yesterday. Gardner heretofore has had a clear field at the primaries, but this year there will be opposition, owing to a political breach between Gardner and Fred Essen, reputed Republican "boss" of the county. The candidate picked by Essen to run against Gardner for the nomination is Richard Ralph, prosecuting Attorney, in whose interest Essen is said to have been campaigning for several months.

DR. RICHTER FILES FOR CORONER

Five Others File for Nomination for Legislative Offices. Dr. Edward Richter of 7310 Michigan avenue, former Alderman, yesterday filed his declaration of candidacy for the Republican nomination for Coroner. Other filings were: Sam White, 2820 Dayton street; Frank O. Bittner, 2372 Farrar street, and Charles Straub, 1406 Angellia street, for representative in the State Legislature from the Fourth District; State Senator Frank Warner, Republican, for re-nomination from the Twenty-ninth District, and Emory Chase, Democrat, for nomination for the Legislature from the Third District.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS BUY BUILDING FOR AUTO SCHOOL

The Knights of Columbus have purchased a large residence adjoining their building at 3549 Olive street on the east and will house in it the trade school which they expect to open in September. The principal course to be given will be one on automobile mechanics. Both day and evening classes probably will be held. Remodeling of the residence will begin soon.

The academic classes which have been carried on at night in the main building for several months have had an enrollment of nearly 800 young men. A project for a $1,000,000 building is under consideration, John E. Riley, treasurer of the Knights of Columbus Building Co., said. Nothing will be done for at least two years, he said, because of high building costs. The residence, which is on a 25-foot lot, was sold for $15,000.

DANIELS REPLIES TO CRITICISMS OF NAVAL OFFICERS

Secretary Says Vast Personnel Requirement Never Had Precedent in Navy or War.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Secretary Daniels today replied to the criticisms of naval officers that he did not take adequate steps to obtain sufficient personnel for the navy before the United States entered the war. He told the Senate committee investigating the navy's conduct of the war that efforts to link his personnel policies in 1914 with the world war had been "abortive" and declared that if he erred then it was because he followed the precedents established by those who preceded him in office.

He had been criticised by Rear Admiral Fiske and other officers because, in 1914, he only asked Congress for enough men to fill the peace complements of the ships, Daniels said, although he was only following recommendations of the general board, made in conformity with established policies of the department. Daniels reviewed at length all of the personnel legislation during his term of office and told the committee that "what the navy did in enrolling and training young men during the world war had no precedent in any navy during the last or any previous war."

The British navy, he said, totaled 415,163 officers and men when the armistice was signed, against 20,021 for the United States. In May, 1916, the General Board recommended 100,000 men as the number necessary for the navy for war in the Atlantic, Daniels said. In August of that year he recommended, and Congress authorized, just 30,000 fewer than that number, he declared.

"Nobody in the navy in 1915 or 1916 dreamed that in any war so many as 400,000 men would be needed," he declared. It was not until after the United States entered the war that it became evident preparations must be made on a much larger scale than 100,000 men, Daniels said.

Daniels paid tribute to the work of Rear Admiral Victor Blue, formerly Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, and read a letter from that officer denying emphatically Rear Admiral McKean's statement to the committee that shortage of navy personnel was largely due to an error made by Admiral Blue in 1915 in estimating the complement of ships.

BISHOP HAD TO WORK WAY ACROSS OCEAN AS LABORER

Only Passage He Could Get From India Was in Hold of Ship, Oiling Engine.

By the Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 20.—Bishop Frank W. Warne of India had to work his way across the Atlantic ocean as a common laborer in order to get to Des Moines for the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He arrived about a week late, but is here.

Telling of his experiences, Bishop Warne said it was a case of "putting on a pair of overalls and doing a little work, or not coming to the conference at all." On the way from Mesopotamia to Port Said the captain sent a wireless message asking for passage to America. The only answer came from a tramp steamer and that was conditioned on the "passenger" working his way.

"Bishop accepts job," was the answer. At Port Said Bishop Warne boarded the freighter, was given an oil can, sent to the engine room and kept busy oiling from morning until night all the way across the Atlantic.

MISSING CHEMIST RETURNS HOME

Dr. Arthur Lachman Disappeared Last December.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20.—Dr. Arthur Lachman, chemist and writer on scientific subjects, who disappeared last December, returned to his home last night unable to give an account of his experiences. A fall in a hotel at Chico, Cal., he said, brought to him a realization of his identity.

A national search for Dr. Lachman had recently been abandoned by his family. On his return he carried a spectacle case bearing the name of a Toledo, O., oculist, but was unable to say if he had been in that city.

WOULD SUSPEND LITERACY TEST

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The Secretary of Labor would be authorized by a bill introduced yesterday by Representative Siegel, Republican, New York, to suspend the literacy test and head tax provision of the immigration laws on a showing that there was a shortage of farm, laborers and household servants.

Aliens so admitted would be required, under the bill, to leave this country at the end of six months if unable at that time to pass the literacy test.

STREET CAR CONDUCTOR HELD UP AT END OF LINE

Two Masked Youths Rob Lee Line Man, Taking Belt and Changer, Containing $20.

John C. Sommers of 2748 Osage street, a conductor on the Lee avenue car line, was held up by two masked youths as he stepped from a rest room at the western terminus of the line, Lee and Taylor avenues, at 1 a. m. today.

He was ordered to throw up his hands and while one of the highway-men covered him with a revolver the other took his belt and money changer containing $15, and $6 in change and 50 street car tokens from his pocket. They also took a small wooden tray containing pennies and tokens from the conductor's compartment on the street car.

Half an hour after the robbery was reported a policeman found the belt and money changer empty, and the tray containing 16 tokens and 25 pennies lying in the street a block from the loop. Sommers said that the robbers appeared to be about 17 years old. They wore caps and had handkerchiefs over the lower part of their faces.

Two boys, about 15 and 16 years old, boarded a Bellefontaine car at the northern loop, Florissant and Robin avenue, at 10:30 o'clock last night, while the conductor, Max Fisher, 5420 Virginia avenue, was in a rest room, and stole a change box containing $25 in cash and street car tokens. Fisher saw the boys running away as he was leaving the rest room.

At the home of Jacob Shurman, 1232 Eighth avenue, in the absence of the family, burglars took three and one-half gallons of whisky and nine bottles of wine, which Shurman said, was valued at $125. They took also two silk shirts and a pair of trousers.

Other burglaries reported were in the homes of Edward M. Prass, 4502 Tower Grove place; William Ohlweiler, 1070 McCausland avenue; Mrs. Elizabeth Fuqua, 3848 Finney avenue; and Kerrikin S. Summers, 1528A Chouteau avenue, where $15 in cash and jewelry valued at $800 was stolen.

BIDS ON COUNTY BRIDGE RANGE FROM $18,114 TO $29,775

Difference of $11 in Price Per Cubic Yard of Concrete in Bids of High and Low Concerns.

A difference of $11,660.50 was found between the high and low bids to build a 50-foot reinforced concrete bridge, 20 feet wide, over Moline Creek on the Florissant road near the city limits of Ferguson, by the County Court when the bids were opened yesterday in Clayton. The General Construction Co. of St. Louis offered to build the bridge for $18,114.70, while the St. Louis Helmholtz Co. of Alton, Ill., bid $29,775. The latter estimated the cost of concrete per cubic yard to be $50, while the former's estimate was only $39 a cubic yard. A third concern offered to build it for $25,110.37.

The County Highway Department had given no estimate of costs.

Monster Fish Is a World Wonder, St. Louisans Say

Worth going miles to see and is a thing that will live in a man's memory forever, is opinion of thousands who have viewed the biggest unclassified creature ever caught in history of the world.

Is 45 Feet Long, Weighed 30,000 lbs. Battled 2 Days and Night When Caught

It only was subdued after being harpooned five times and pierced by 151 bullets from a large caliber rifle. A 400-pound octopus, a 1500-pound black fish and 500 pounds of coral were found in the monster's stomach.

Mystery Creature Is Neither Whale Nor Shark; Is It the Fish That Swallowed Prophet Jonah?

This mysterious sea monster is on the Palatial Yacht Tamiami at the foot of Olive street. It is the largest fish in the world.

There are 500 other wonders of the deep sea on the Tamiami, including a 2000-pound Sea Cow, which swims in a tank built on the boat and which eats from the hands of members of the crew. There also is a man-eating shark, an octopus, devil fish, angel fish, sail fish, a sea horse and other strange and unusual wonders of marine life.

Visitors will be permitted to board the Palatial Yacht Tamiami to view the deep-sea mystery, the Sea Cow and the 500 other wonders from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. daily.

Ten thousand St. Louisans have seen this monster in last few days.

STRIKERS STOP TRAIN, MAKE WORKMEN WALK

300 Men Are Ordered From Cars on Way to St. Louis Coke & Chemical Plant.

An Alton, Granite & St. Louis Traction Co. train of five cars, loaded with workmen from St. Louis and East St. Louis on their way to the plant of the St. Louis Coke and Chemical Co., under construction about three miles east of Granite City, was held up at Granite City at 8 o'clock this morning by about 300 striking building craftsmen.

The passengers were ordered from the cars and the crew was forced by threats to run the engine train into the car barns. The demonstration occurred in the switching yards near the car barns.

Some of the workmen who had been forced to alight from the train continued the journey to the plant on foot; others were taken to work on motor trucks and many returned to their homes.

There has been a strike on at the plant for two weeks, involving jurisdictional rights of various crafts affiliated with the Building Trades Council and the alleged use of some nonunion materials in the construction work. About 17 crafts of the building lines were employed on the job and were working under about 15 subcontractors.

It was said that about 300 men were on the train bound for the plant this morning and that they had been employed to take the places of the strikers.

Erection of the plant began in January and involved a first investment of about $5,000,000. It has been estimated that the plant will cost about $10,000,000 when completed. The plant is to be used for the manufacture of coke and the converting of by-products into dyes, chemicals and medicines.

No arrests were made as a result of the incident this morning. There were no complaints of violence.

PHYSICIANS OF TUBERCULOSIS SOCIETY TO MEET TOMORROW

Plan for Medical Work and Reimbursement of Pre-War Methods to Be Considered.

Physicians who are members of the Board of Directors of the St. Louis Tuberculosis Society and those representing the tuberculosis institutions of this city, will meet at 4 p. m. at 702 Equitable Building with Maj. Bahrenburg of the United States Public Health Service, medical director of the Tuberculosis Society, to decide upon a plan for the medical work of the society.

A resumption of the pre-war work of the society, when a medical advisory staff of 126 physicians, pledged to care for indigent consumptives without charge, supervised the organization's medical work, will be considered, and new plans will be suggested.

Following the meeting Maj. Bahrenburg will organize a class for doctors for the scientific study of tuberculosis.

MANILA BEER PRICES TO GO UP

Increased Tax Forces Either Cut in Size of Glass or Advance.

By the Associated Press. MANILA, P. I., May 20.—The days of the 10-cent beer are numbered, according to saloonkeepers, on account of the increased internal revenue tax placed upon the beverage by a bill which was passed by the recent session of the Philippine Legislature.

The management of one large brewery gave notice that the wholesale price of beer would be increased at once, and retailers say when their present exhausted, they must either raise the price above 20 centavos a glass (10 cents) or cut down the size of the glasses.

WOMAN FOUND UNCONSCIOUS

Bottle Labeled "Lemon Extract" Picked Up at Side.

A woman who gave her name as Dollie Smith, 24 years old, of 1007 North Leffingwell avenue, was found unconscious on the doorstep at that number at 2 p. m. yesterday and taken to the city hospital. Doctors said she was in a serious condition from grain alcohol. A bottle found beside the woman bore the label of a Market street drug store and read "Lemon extract, 75 per cent alcohol."

ADVERTISING

TELLS DYSPPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things. Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acids and prevent the formation of gas or sourness by the use of a little Bismarck Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable remedy than Bismarck Magnesia, which you can get from any drug store, and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach, and is not a detergent. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five-grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of painful pills or artificial dieting.

STANLEY ESTATE IN TRUST FOR WIFE AND CHILDREN

Photographic Copy of Will of Cigar Manufacturer Filed in Probate Court

A photographic copy of the will of Charles P. Stanley, cigar manufacturer and merchant, who died May 12, was filed in the Probate Court today. The will, executed July 31, 1912, leaves the bulk of the estate in trust for his wife, Rose; his daughter, Mary Rose Stanley, and his sons, Ralph and Thomas.

A copy was filed because the original has been sent to Santa Rosa, Cal., to be attested by one of the witnesses, H. P. Hilliard, formerly a St. Louis banker. After being attested it will be returned to St. Louis and take the place of the copy on the files.

The will expresses Stanley's wish that the trustees shall not speculate with his estate. It says the stocks which are part of the estate were selected with great care and must not be sold except by unanimous vote of the trustees.

The home and its furnishings at 4241 Westminster place are left to the wife. There is a provision for the expenditure of $7500 for a lot and monument in Calvary cemetery with instructions that his mother's body be removed to the new lot. He leaves $750 for masses for the repose of his soul.

EXPRESS MESSENGER AND WILD CAT IN FIGHT ON TRAIN

Animal Breaks From Cage in Car and Fight Lasts an Hour Before It Is Killed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LExINGTON, Ky., May 20.—A big wildcat, which escaped from its cage in the express car of the C. & O. Cincinnati-Richmond (Va.) flyer caused excitement before he was killed, according to a dispatch today from Ashland, Ky. The cat was being shipped from Toledo, Tex., to Richmond, Va.

Shortly after the train passed Mayville, Ky., he broke out of his cage. The messengers sought cover. One expressman, however, with a revolver, opened fire on the wildcat. The animal showed fight at once, and for more than an hour the cat tried to reach the messenger and the latter shot at the beast whenever he presented a mark.

At Russell, Ky., when the train slowed down, the cat presented a good target, and the messengers fired his ninth shot, killing him. The carcass was taken to Ashland and presented to the Police Department, which will mount the skin.

650 BOILERMAKERS AND THEIR HELPERS STRIKE FOR MORE PAY

Men Reject 5 Cents an Hour Increase and Quit Work When 15 Cents Is Refused.

About 650 boilermakers and helpers, employed in 17 shops in St. Louis, went on strike today following failure of employers and union representatives to reach a satisfactory wage agreement. The strikers belong to Boilermakers' and Helpers' Local No. 27.

It was said at the headquarters of the union, 1415 North Broadway, that the men had asked for the following wage scale: Layer-outs, $1 an hour; boilermakers, 90 cents an hour; and helpers, 70 cents an hour. The old scale was: Layer-outs, 85 cents an hour; boilermakers, 75 cents; and helpers, 55 cents. The employers, it was said, had offered to increase all wages 5 cents an hour, but the offer had been rejected.

1,400,000 FRENCHMEN KILLED, 800,000 MAIMED IN WAR

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, May 20.—What is perhaps the first concise and comprehensive statement of France's war losses has just been made by Capt. Andre Tardieu, former French High Commissioner in the United States, in describing what he calls the "balance sheet" of France. Tardieu states that during the five years of the war 3,000,000 men were mobilized, of whom 1,400,000 were killed, 800,000 maimed, and 200,000 wounded. France lost 57 per cent of her men under 32 years of age.

To Have Wavy Hair Like Nature's Own

Here's a brand-new recipe of unquestioned merit that you should make note of, unless you are one of the few possessors of naturally wavy hair. It's very simple, for all you need do is to apply a little liquid alimmine before doing up the hair—with a clean tooth brush—and in three hours you will find this has dried in the sweetest curls and waves imaginable. They will be just like Nature's own, having no resemblance to the effect produced by any other hair which is so obviously artificial. The application is really beneficial to the hair and gives it that lively lustre so much desired. As it is so easy to obtain a few ounces of the liquid alimmine from your drug store—sufficient to keep the hair curly for many weeks—there is no reason now for wearing straight hair or with the curling iron machine.

SUFFRAGISTS SAIL FOR INTERNATIONAL MEETING

Delegation Headed by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt and Mrs. Joseph Daniels.

NEW YORK, May 20.—The American woman suffrage delegation, headed by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, international president, sailed yesterday on the steamer Royal George for Europe, to attend the eighth congress of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance at Geneva, Switzerland, June 6 to 12.

Thirty delegates, alternates and visitors were in the party, including Mrs. Josephus Daniels, wife of the Naval Secretary, who goes as an official representative of the United States Government.

Mrs. Daniels, in a statement, expressed pride that the women of the South were playing such an important part in suffrage matters and evinced confidence that before the party returns suffrage will have ratified the nineteenth amendment to enable the Secretary of State to proclaim it a part of the Federal Constitution. She said she had received information that the Louisiana Legislature now in session will ratify suffrage. Others in the party were Mrs. Stanley McCormick, corresponding secretary of the International Alliance; Mrs. Jacob Baur, Illinois; Mrs. Desha Breckinridge, Kentucky; Mrs. W. E. Berkeley, Nebraska; former State Senator Helen Ring Robinson, Colorado; Miss Dorothy Rehfield, South Dakota; Mrs. H. O. Garvey, Kansas; Mrs. J. ### STOCK SALESMAN TEMPORARILY OCCUPYING CHURCH AS HOME

Samuel Gutman Moves Into Manchester Edifice to Accommodate Pastor.

Samuel Gutman, a stock salesman who until recently lived at 3553 West Pine boulevard, is temporarily occupying the frame church building of the Christ Evangelical denomination at 2119 Manchester avenue with his wife.

Gutman decided to move into the church building when he found that the pastorate adjoining, which he had purchased, was still occupied by the Rev. Julius W. Varwig and that the new residence for the pastor was not ready.

"I had planned to move into a residence on McCausland avenue and the place was sold over my head," said Gutman, to a city of the property, "and we will not treat the pastor the same way."

In recognition of his consideration, the congregation will charge no rent for the time he occupies the church building. The Rev. Mr. Varwig expects to move from the parish house in a month. The congregation is completing a new church and parish house at Bruno and Bellevue avenue.

FOREST FIRE THREATENS FOUR TOWNS IN QUEBEC

Water Drawn From Tender of Refugee Train to Aid It to Get Through Woods.

By the Associated Press. QUEBEC, May 20.—A forest fire is sweeping Bellechasse County, threatening destruction of the villages of St. Camille, St. Fabien, Panet and Daquiam, according to telegraphic appeals for aid received here today. Daquiam was said to be in great danger and the inhabitants were reported leaving their homes.

Several scores of women and children refugees were brought out of the fire district early today by a Quebec Central train which had to fight its way through the flames. Water had to be drawn from the tender to quench the flames which caught the coaches as the train pushed through the burning woods. Timbers valued at more than $1,000,000 are reported in the path of the flames. Volunteers with firefighting equipment and Red Cross supplies have been sent into Bellechasse County to check the flames. Public prayers are being offered by persons in the threatened districts that their homes be spared.

6% Real Estate Serial Notes

Secured by FIRST MORTGAGES on Improved BUSINESS PROPERTIES.

Denominations of Notes $100 and $500

Semi-annual interest coupons are attached to each principal note. All are payable at the MERCANTILE TRUST CO., ST. LOUIS.

"In the making of investments safety of principal and interest is the first consideration."

The First Mortgage Real Estate Serial Notes we offer our clients are only such as we have, after a thorough and careful investigation, thought well enough of the security to make the original loans. We unhesitatingly recommend any notes we offer.

In the Deeds of Trust securing these notes it is required that a specified number of the notes be paid on an agreed date each year. In requiring this the original loan is materially reduced annually or semi-annually and the margin of security is correspondingly increased.

Our years of successful experience in the loaning of money on improved real estate enables us to adopt every safeguard for the protection of money loaned.

We make our fees by lending the money to the property owners. We then sell the notes and so get back our money to lend again.

In making these loans we prepare all mortgages and notes, examine and pass upon all title papers, see to the payment of taxes and that ample insurance is kept in force during the life of the loan. All insurance is payable to the Mercantile Trust Company as trustee for the note holders.

WRITE FOR CIRCULARS explaining in detail each issue of the First Mortgage Real Estate Notes we now have to offer.

CLOTHING MAKERS TO NAME OFFICERS TODAY

Resolution for Substitution of Gross Sales Tax for Others to Be Offered.

Resolutions urging revision of the internal revenue law so as to substitute a gross sales tax for the income, excess profits and surtaxes now in use will be presented to the International Association of Garment Manufacturers at their general session this afternoon.

Another resolution provides for an urgent appeal to Congress and the Interstate Commerce Commission to use strenuous means to break the freight traffic jam. This resolution is drawn along lines suggested by Festus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Co., in an address to the association Tuesday.

Changes probably will be made today in the language of a resolution adopted Tuesday which calls upon textile mills to discontinue sales of goods "at the mill," and urging that all sales be made on terms of delivery to carriers.

"At the mill" sales have enabled some concerns to demand and obtain payment for material still in their plants, and in some cases not yet made, the manufacturers say, thus tying up capital of the garment maker for long periods.

Officers will be elected this afternoon. The names to be placed before the convention by the Nominating Committee are as follows: Roy Ryne, Omaha, president; S. A. Sweet, retiring president, New York, chairman board of directors; Warren V. Eaton, St. Louis, first vice president; Jacob W. Mack, Cincinnati, treasurer. Eight directors and 35 vice presidents for states of the United States and provinces in Canada represented in the association, also will be elected.

Boys' blouse and shirt manufacturers met in the forenoon, questions of material supply and trade efficiency being discussed.

After the business session this afternoon members of the association will go for a steamboat trip on the river. Tomorrow is the last day of the convention, and two general sessions will be held. The next convention probably will be held in Cleveland.

CORN SHORTS BUY
ON RYE EXPORTS;
PRICE RANGE WIDE

The corn market turned strong in the afternoon on the Merchants' Exchange today. Reports of exports of rye were credited with being a factor in the strengthening of prices after the recent decline. Shorts covered rather freely. Prices ranged up more than 3 cents. Oats were quiet.

Following a fractionally higher opening the corn market reacted slightly to a small quotation under last night's close and then settled into a waiting mood.

The weather map was not as favorable as yesterday for corn, but there were reports of increased movement of country grain, partly from elevators. It was said. Conditions are favorable for oats.

Local receipts were 43 cars local and 13 through wheat as compared with 14 and 40 respectively last year; 41 and 17 cars of corn respectively as against 11 and 6, and 45 and 11 cars of oats against 30 and 8 respectively last year.

In the cash grain market spot wheat was 1c to 2c lower, spot corn 1c to 2c higher, and spot oats 1c higher. Sales quotations were:

No. 2 red winter wheat, $2.96; No. 3 hard wheat, $2.95; No. 2 corn, $2.10; No. 3 corn, $2.09; No. 2 yellow corn, $2.10; No. 3 yellow corn, $2.09; No. 2 white corn, $2.11; No. 3 white corn, $2.10; No. 2 white corn, $2.11; No. 3 white corn, $2.10; No. 2 white corn, $2.11; No. 3 white corn, $2.10.

 I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or oppression, always fight for the rights of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory party.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Coal Miners From The People.
 To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The article entitled "Dwellers in the Dark," by L. Edgar, is poetical, and may be true, in so far as the street sweep is concerned, but for the coal miner, returning from his day's labor, no sympathy need be wasted. I say this, for both observation and experience, I know that the coal miner's lot is no more unhappy than that of any other son of toil.

Many men like to work underground, for its advantages are many. The extremes of weather are less, the mine being cooler in summer and warmer in winter than the outside air. The ventilation is usually better than that of many workshops above ground, and the comparative longevity of miners is noteworthy, being, I believe, slightly higher than that of the farmers. Statistics taken over a long period of years both in this country and Europe show that deaths and injuries from accidents are no greater than in most mechanical trades, and far less than in one or two common pursuits. The earning power of a coal miner varies with the local rate, being entirely place work, with occasional extras over the scale price per ton in shape of room-turning, rock-moving and yardage, which sometimes aggregate as much as his earnings for tonnage. I do not mean to intimate that the coal miner is a plutocrat, for the scale has only doubled in 20 years, while living expenses have increased in a greater proportion. On the other hand, work is more steady now, so that the miner's income has probably kept pace with the H. C. of L. The law of supply and demand has adjusted this, as it always has and always will.

Many coal miners have become prominent men in other walks of life. Some drift into other occupations, but the majority remain coal miners from choice. They were the pioneers of the eight-hour movement, for the altruistic reason that it would give employment to a greater number of men. Given half an opportunity, the coal miner is a good and painstaking gardener, raising not only vegetables, but flowers. One miner of my acquaintance was a specialist in roses, many of whose mechanics, most of them are philosophers.

L. R. BAKER.

Thanks!

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
 Your Sunday paper was worth $1 Sunday, May 16 for no other reason than the two stories it carried: "The Self-Commemorator," which was the very funniest thing I ever read, and "Levy."
 In spite of the rain, I enjoyed Sunday.

W. B. McC.

U. R. Co., Please Wake Up.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
 What is the idea of changing the routing of the Tower Grove and Fourth street cars in the morning and evening only? In the morning, when all the working people are expected to get down to work on time, both car lines terminate at Fourth and Pine streets. All people working on streets north of Pine are expected to get out and walk. Now, isn't it, on a rainy morning or a cold winter morning? Why change back to the old route from 9 o'clock until 4 o'clock to accommodate the "shoppers," who have all day to do their shopping? Why not try to accommodate the working people just once in awhile?

The proper way to route the cars would be to continue the Tower Grove north over Broadway and loop on Franklin avenue and continue west over the Fourth street route to Grand and Arsenal, thence west on Arsenal over their regular route. Fourth street could be routed over Fourth street and loop at Franklin, over Broadway to Lucas and westward over the Tower Grove route to Grand and Arsenal, then north over Grand on their regular eastward route. This would eliminate the switching at Grand and Arsenal and the congested condition that exists every evening.

A THOROUGHLY DISGUSTED VICTIM.

Useless Advertising.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
 A great saving in all kinds of print paper could be soon made on the part of those who send out such loads of trade circulars to men in business who never read them. The average business man would be obliged to cut out his sleep if he took the time to read all of the second-class matter he gets every day. There are many changes in business, by death, failure, change of location, fire, flood, retirement, etc., but as a rule the mercantile agencies in their reports state these things to their subscribers. Still this mail matter keeps on coming, addressed to persons who are no longer alive; much of it is sent to dealers who do not and never did handle lines of goods offered to them in these circulars, so the waste basket is their grave. Many of the large retail houses send out first-class matter only, with return envelopes printed with their card; these can be returned, but if a Postmaster had to keep on notifying the senders of all the second-class stuff, he would have to hire extra assistants. It would be a saving all around for mailing lists to be revised at least once every six months.
 HERBERT W. CANN.

CONSTITUTIONAL LIBERTY LEAGUE.

It is refreshing to note that in Massachusetts, the home of puritanism, yet having a shining record in the struggle for free constitutional government, there has been organized a Constitutional Liberty League to defend the bill of rights, particularly the right of local self-government against invasion by the Federal Government. In the list of charter members are several notable names in American history.

The special purpose of the organization is to defeat drastic Federal prohibition which attempts to override individual, state and local rights and seizures for exercise by the Federal agents police powers belonging to the state, but it is designed to defend the entire bill of rights and to check the persistent encroachment of the Federal Government on state and local rights.

The field is broad and calls for vigorous action on the part of Americans who cherish constitutional liberty and who realize that its bulwark is local self-government. The eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law are only conspicuous examples of a dangerous popular tendency to look to Washington for the cure of all our evils and to confer increasing power on the central Government for the control of state and local affairs. The Federal Government's powers are being constantly enlarged, and the multiplication of laws, bureaus and agencies to interfere with business and regulate local concerns and personal morals and conduct goes on.

The Massachusetts movement is started on a sound basis. It proposes an organization of citizens joined together as Americans on sound principles of Americanism and struggling to defend these principles. It is divorced from all special interests and is as much opposed to the evils which were the cause of the wave of puritanism and bureaucratic federalism as those who support the fallacious and menacing policies of Federal interference.

It is vain to look for initiative or for reform in the morals and customs of the people in governmental agencies. Initiative in democracies comes from the people. The Government is the people's agency seeking always to enlarge its powers and its spoils. It is never better than the people who control and support it. It is generally worse, and frequently falls far below their ideals. The real menace to liberty and the public welfare is not in the people and their activities, but in the Government's hunger for increased power and enlarged activities in control of the people.

The Constitutional Liberty League should appeal to masses of Americans all over the country. It should grow in numbers and power until it becomes a bulwark against the rising tide of Federal bureaucratic interference with the life, labor, pursuits and legitimate activities of the people. It ought to be a strong line of defense for that freedom which is essential to human happiness, progress and prosperity. It erects a banner for all "men who know their rights and knowing dare defend them."

THE TRUCK.

Something like 300,000,000 tons of freight were carried by trucks in the United States last year. This great tonnage, however, was not moved over roads flooded by creeks or yawning with bottomless pits. The modern truck has limitations. It can't swim. It can't fly. It can't crawl down muddy embankments and climb up the other side. It needs a reasonably good road to function. In the tonnage it carried last year the truck performed a very necessary service. It kept a number of cities from freezing or starving, or both. The people of those cities owe their lives to the truck and to the truck's indispensable partner, the good road.

Missouri should utilize the truck. With its great farms and its numerous cities there is scarcely another State where the truck could do a more valuable work. It could give the farmer a better price for his products and enable the people of the city to buy those products at lower prices. Operating at full capacity the truck is bound to flatten out and remove the superfluous middleman.

But before the truck can serve Missouri, Missouri must build good roads.

A MANUFACTURER'S FOOLISH SPEECH.

At the silver jubilee convention of the National Association of Manufacturers, Stephen C. Mason, president of the organization, urged the enactment of "new and emphatic" Federal legislation for the prevention of strikes. He referred to three assaults against the nation's prosperity within the past year by a comparative minority, proceeding in utter disregard of the public interest.

That labor has been badly advised and misled into reckless demonstrations is undeniable; but without palliating such offenses it may be observed that labor has not been the only offender, or the worst. What greater menace is there to American institutions than may be found in the class to which Mr. Mason belongs and of which he is a spokesman—those manufacturers who have been taking advantage of conditions to charge every cent the traffic would bear and whose profits, as shown by their own statements, are proof of guilt? Labor in its most selfish demands has displayed no more ruthless disregard for the public welfare than unconscionable profiteers have practiced.

Instead of urging "new and emphatic" legislation for the suppression of strikes it had been far more becoming in the head of the National Association of Manufacturers to flay the wrongdoers on his side of the industrial line and to urge the enactment of whatever further legislation might be needed to put an end to profiteering.

HAS RUSSIA'S NAPOLEON APPEARED?

Our memory of a former great revolution that, after many excesses, reached the state of government by three Consuls and of the remarkable man who became First Consul is very vivid.

Commissioners are the depository of all power under the Soviet revolutionary government of Russia. Has the stage been reached there when another military commander of great capacity has become Chief Commissioner?

At any rate the latest news from Moscow surpasses in interest all reports from that source in many months. That out of conditions paralleling at many points those of the French convulsion, a figure having some resemblance to that of Napoleon would ultimately emerge has been long expected. In the vague reports indicating that some important change has come about, the statement that a military coup has taken place and that Gen. Alexis A. Brusiloff has assumed the powers which Lenin and Trotsky formerly held is most significant.

From the few details at hand it might be possible to reconstruct the events of a very important crisis in Russian development, one that might be shown, when full information is afforded, to be the turning point in the revolution. The one military genius of the final chapter in Czarism was Brusiloff. The series of brilliant victories he won were the last successes of that regime. It was asserted that, because his son had been executed by one of the anti-Soviet Generals under whose command he was serving, Gen. Brusiloff went over to Lenin. To his ability is attributed the astonishing triumphs the Soviet arms gained over all enemies, particularly over the formidable Denikin movement in Southern Russia.

Did the Soviet reverses caused by the Polish armies result in crisis at Moscow, with distrust and loss of prestige for the Lenin junta? If so, who would be in a better position to seize the power than Brusiloff, Soviet adherent of heroic record?

Many things lend probability to the presumption of a counter revolution. If the Polish victories have given Brusiloff the same opportunity that came to Napoleon with a Parisian insurrection, further opportunities, to be accounted among the greatest in history, will be opened to him. In any event, counter-revolution cannot be long delayed. It is time that Russia was put in alignment with the forces of civilization. Under the leaders who have exercised a bloody control during the past three years it will continue indefinitely a pariah among nations.

Besides the dark horse at Chicago it is possible that Hiram Johnson will develop into a bucking broncho. There is much these days to disturb the Old Guard's equine-imity, so to speak.

CHICAGO BECOMES QUERULOUS.

The practice of choosing more delegates to conventions than the call specifies is by no means a new one. The amplified delegations, of course, cast only a fraction of a vote for each member, a fraction which, in the case of the Illinois Republican delegation, is whittled down as low as two-fifths. So obvious a device for establishing a parity between the number of honors available and the number of the ambitious is ordinarily entitled to small sympathy, perhaps, but this year a special reason exists for augmented delegations not present in equal force in former years. The women's right to representation had to be recognized and apparently the usual number of understandings as to the selection of men delegates had to be fulfilled in the interest of party harmony.

Though San Francisco has made no objection to accommodating these enlarged delegations with fractional votes, in fact, seems pleased that the privilege of entertaining a considerable proportion of women delegates will be afforded, Chicago is querulous and seriously displeased. It has announced that it will provide no seats for the excess delegates. If it persists in this attitude, the embarrassment may be easily obviated. It is not too late to change the meeting place of the convention. Transfer it to St. Louis, which will be only too delighted to entertain those women President makers, and the more that come the better.

The whole country is now giving high prices the Omaha-ha.

The oil game will be finished in 20 years, but the smooth, persuasive gentry may be depended on to find another pastime for separating the gullible and their Liberty Bonds.

JUST A MINUTE.

Written for the POST-DISPATCH
 by Clark McAdams

"I have taken the railroad strike and other plagues of transportation to show us the possibilities of river traffic, something we have lacked the vision to see before," Mr. Antiwine said.

"There are not enough boats and barges to handle the business on the river now, and that situation will probably be intensified as the inadequacies of the railroads increase. The late James J. Hill tried to tell us many years ago that this would happen, but we let his warning go thundering up and down the river without paying the least heed to it."

"Fortunately we have on the river now, and will have increasingly from this time on, the Government boats and barges provided as a war measure. Except for them we would probably be lamenting our blindness in not having done something with the river before this situation struck us. As it is, we can sigh with regret to think how much better off we would be now and in the years immediately ahead of us had we put the river a commission back in the days when we could go no further than to hold conventions and sing Dig Her Deep Through the Valley."

"Mr. Hill said we did not have enough railroads and could not build enough railroads to do what the rivers can do for us. The growth of the country has left the railroads far behind. They can never catch up. All they can do and all the rivers can do will be no more than the business of the country requires. The idea that they are competitive is absurd. They are necessary to one another."

"The railroads are not trucking about the rivers now. They are thinking about their own dilapidated equipment, the way it will take for them to replace it, and the fast-growing deluge of business by which they are swamped. They have confessed to the Government their inability to see daylight ahead."

"Except for the effect of the war, which is not all that is the matter with the railroads, Mr. Hill saw this situation coming. It takes a prophet to see ahead like that. Most of us are not prophets; we are much more likely to be only profiteers."

Tristram Shandy thought that because he trusted his fortune to a banker and his life to a doctor, neither of whom was a churchman or made any such claim to morality, whereas he would trust neither with some fellow who did make such profession, it must follow that honor is the thing which knits society together, and not morality, as many people would have us believe. It looks as if this country needed a Tristram Shandy lecture a little. We are careless of the honorable thing in Europe and many are careful about the moral thing in our own country. That cannot be a very sound policy. If it is, then Tristram Shandy came a philosophical propper.

Gen. Wood goes right on capturing life state delegations to the Chicago convention as if nothing had happened. After all, a campaign fund, notwithstanding some hard things have been said of it in the present instance, is a campaign fund. I don't see how you can go fishing before the national conventions are held. Neither party has a policy, nor has either party a candidate. We have not to think. This is no the for anybody to go fishing. BLACK GNAT.

Answering an inquiry from one who wishes to know why we are here, Dr. Lyman Abbott ventures the opinion that we are not here to be happy. He thinks our experience has proved this, and he does not expect to see it prove anything else. We are here, he concludes, for self-development. It is in getting somewhere that we fulfill the expectations of the creative design, and failing that we have lived in vain. We do not imagine the United States Senate thinks this is why we are here. Judging by what has been said and done since the Senate began consideration of the peace treaty, most of the members of that body believe our duty is to the past. That difference of opinion promises to become the issue of the campaign. Irrespective of all differences of opinion as to the way in which we can advance our well-being, the dominant spirit of the Senate is that we should hold fast to what we have. Dr. Abbott thinks our world is a sad world. He speaks harshly of it, and one wonders if so able an advocate as he is could not prove pretty satisfactorily that this possibly is hell. At any rate one's confidence in how everything is going to come out is shaken by his refusal to share it. He says we are not meant to be happy. We are merely meant to be tested in a world of misery and disappointment which offers us no lack of something to do if we really want to do the thing expected of us. That is, even the happiness of service is short-lived. It can have joy of itself, but not of the consequence. All the heroes of earth, however happy their service, have not made earth anything to be happy about. You can see how blue he is. Like Mark Twain, who despaired at the last, Dr. Abbott disposes ultimately to the belief that earth is a place of trial and not that pleasing prospect it has seemed. This is bad news for all the boys who read Just a Minute. It is bad news for the sign hunters. It is bad news for the school of light without heat. Let us be glad that we have with us Socrates, who can knock the argument of the venerable Doctor higher than a kite, and Mr. Antiwine, who will say at once that the world while not what is might be is much better than it was for having had Dr. Lyman Abbott live and work in it.

THE VERSAILLES TREATY.

GUGLIELMO FERRERO in Atlantic Monthly.
 IT is clear that such a peace, however excellent it may be in itself, bears very little resemblance to a peace based upon such principles as President Wilson and the idealists had in mind. It is clear, also, that the attempt to conclude a "Napoleonic" peace, under cover of a discussion of principles which are its very antithesis, was certain to cause great confusion. The opponents of President Wilson are right, in a certain degree, when they say that, if the question of principles had not been raised; if the peoples had not been led to believe that "justice" and "right" could decide such a conflict; if everybody had boldly faced the "realities," the confusion of tongues would not have come to pass, and the treaty of peace would have been more coherent. But it remains to be seen if it was possible not to raise the question of principles, and if, as many people in Europe seem to think, justice and right, self-determination of peoples, the principle of nationality, the League of Nations, are all an invention of Mr. Wilson and the small knot of dreaming idealists, or something more profound. There lies the whole question.

HAWAII AND STATEHOOD.

WM. R. CASTLE JR. in West Outlook.
 HAWAII has been a territory since 1898, but the average postal clerk is not yet sure whether domestic postage on a letter is sufficient, and customs authorities are often doubtful whether duty should be paid on the contents of parcels sent from Honolulu. In Hawaii, on the other hand, people are so sure of their true-blue Americanism that a political group is seeking to have the territory made a State. The more conservative Americans taken the opposite stand. Instead of advocating statehood, they would prefer the American institutions which they foresee would be in jeopardy should the rule of the majority obtain. The majority of citizens will shortly be Japanese, because of the American law which makes the child of aliens, born in American territory, a citizen. The Japanese already outnumber other races in the Islands, and the time is rapidly approaching when Japanese voters will outnumber other voters.

NEXT SEASON'S OPERA.

From the New York World.
 THE most significant change in the policy of the opera is the return of Wagner's music to the repertory. Apart from the fact that Wagner, as the master singer of modern opera, should be sung, there is the financial aspect to be considered. Wagner pays. His 10 operas have been sold mines for impresarios. And now that the foolish prejudice has abated against the compositions of a German who died in 1883—a prejudice the World has always combated even during the darkest days of the great war—there is no valid reason why the musical public should be any longer deprived of masterpieces. In London they are singing "Die Meistersinger" and at the Capitol Theater in this city they produced Humperduck's charming "Hansel and Gretel," the very quintessence of old German fairy tales—in English, of course, which will be the language used of "Lohegren" and "Tristan and Isolde" at the Metropolitan. There will also be revivals of "Don Carlos," "Andre Chénier," "Lakmé," "Tales of Hoffmann," "Boito's 'Mefistofele' and Henry Hadley's 'Cleopatra's Night,' so successful last season. Manager Gatti-Casazza's American-composer policy has been more than liberal. New singers are promised, old favorites are retained. Altogether, the outlook for the season of 1920-1921 is pleasing to opera-goers.

SECOND INSTALLMENT.

THROUGH the long ride, as we whirled beyond the outskirts of the city and into the first of the suburban towns, Justin was strangely silent. I knew, however, that it was not Benedict's death as much as his own problem of living that troubled him. He had held to the Benedict plant, in spite of its disagreeable alterations that all John Benedict's men suffered, because of his desire to marry Natalie. Somehow, no one could imagine Natalie marry anyone who was not assured. I could have done it and gladly, for a man whom I loved and who loved me as Justin loved my sister, but to expect sacrifice in Natalie was to look for sturdiness in an orchid. Now, with his job gone, flung away for whatever reason had precipitated his conflict with Benedict, he was facing a long wait—and a hurt, disappointed Natalie. "Don't worry, Justin," I strove to reassure him. "It will all come right."

He patted my hand, as if in gratitude for the comforting, and I realized anew how much of a boy Justin Terry was, for all his record of hard and successful work.

"I should have thought of all it meant before I went off," he confessed.

"It's done, however, and it may be for the best. But, even aside from that, I'm sorry, Edith, that I said to him all those things I'd stored for years. They are true, as I see them, but I'm not the judge."

We had come to our house, and I saw a light in the library. "Won't you come in?" I asked him. "We can put you up for the night, you know."

"No," he said. "Lane is going back downtown, and he'll take me. It's pretty late."

Because I realized that Natalie would, with reason, be angry at him for not coming in, I refrained from telling her that he had come out with me when she came into the hall to meet me. "What on earth kept you?" she demanded. "Martin met the train, and was going back for the midnight. Why didn't you telephone?"

I told her the story hastily. She listened with wide open eyes that began to flash ere I finished. "Do you mean to tell me," she cried, "that Justin quit the plant today just because he didn't like something Benedict told him to do? Why should he care? It's Benedict's plant, and he has a right to order anything he wants in it, hasn't he? And now Justin, because he—"

"And, of course, the two of you will be wanted as witnesses, and the newspapers will have stories and photographs, and we'll have tribes of reporters on the veranda, the way the Harmons had when Elsie ran away, and we'll be gossiped about and laughed at, and I suppose people will confuse me with you and start asking what I was doing at Carpenter with Justin at midnight. And it all comes of your going to the settlement. Edith! You know that mother always said that trouble would come of it."

"Well, it hasn't come yet," I said, as I went upstairs.

But I was wrong. It had come, though I did not yet know it. It was only when the inquest ended the next afternoon, with the evidence of six people presented, Justin's, Lane's, the watchman's, McGrath's, the coroner's physician's and my own, that the coroner called Rita Kubal. Wide-eyed, puzzled, the girl told the story of Justin's quarrel with Benedict. Ten minutes later the jury brought in the verdict that John Benedict had met his death by stabbing and requested the holding of Justin Terry to the grand jury.

"What does it mean?" I asked him. Natalie had not come, and we sat together in the dingy room of the police station.

"It means," he said, "that they think I killed him."

"But it's absurd, ridiculous. I saw—"

"You saw me bending over him. Rita heard our quarrel. That's about all there's to it, but it's enough for indictment with no other motive established. But don't worry, Edith, and don't let Natalie worry. It's just a tangle, but we'll get through. I've telephoned Carmichael to get me bail. I'll have to wait till he comes."

"Can't I do anything for you?" I asked him.

"Nothing," he said, "but keep up Natalie's courage."

The keeping up of Natalie's courage would have been a possible though difficult task had she felt for a moment the need of that virtue. As it was, I found when I reached home that the newspapers had carried the verdict before me. As I went into mother's sitting room I knew that another verdict had been passed. Mother, whiter and tinner than Natalie and looking far more grim than grandmother, announced it. "We feel that your part in this affair is unfortunate, Edith," she said, "but not of your own making. We believe, though, that Justin brought this upon himself, and so we have decided that it is only fair to Natalie that he shall have nothing whatever to do with her until this cloud is removed."

"But you don't believe, you can't believe, that he killed Benedict?"

"Hardly that. But can't you see how unfair it is to Natalie that she should be associated with him under the circumstances?"

I looked at Natalie, expected from her an outburst of denial, for I had thought that with all her false standards of people and things she really loved Justin; but she was gazing out of the window at the snowy landscape as if she were not under discussion. "Can't you see," I burst out, "how unfair to him it is that you should not stand by him now when he needs us, Natalie most of all?"

"I see that you are as absurd and quixotic as ever," mother said hotly, and went out of the room. Natalie followed her without a word. As I rose to go grandmother halted me. She was seated in the wing chair by the window that she sometimes called her throne because of her magnificent air of command in her utterances out of it. Even though she had seemed to be reading the newspaper, I knew that she had missed nothing of our words, and I expected from her a revised and more direct version of mother's unjust point of view. I braced for it as she spoke. "Sit down," she bade me. I obeyed. No one disobeys Mme. Marshall, who has ruled three households in turn, her mother's, her own and her daughter's.

"I suppose," she said, taking off her spectacles and transfixing me with her bright little eyes, "that after you think it over, you will decide that while your family is wrong, peace must be purchased."

"I didn't do that about the settlement," I protested.

"No," she said. "That's why I have hopes for you now. To begin with, Edith," she counseled me, "that Terry boy is a fool."

"He is not."

"A fool," she repeated. "Here he goes mooning over Natalie, thinking he's crazy over her, and all the time depending on you for sympathy and comradeship and loyalty. Just like a man," she snapped, "wanting his bread and cake at the same time, and thinking the cake will make the meal. And you're a fool for loving him."

"I don't!"

"Don't lie to me, Edith. But seeing that you're both fools, I suppose I must take a hand in this game. You don't believe he killed that Benedict man, do you?"

"Of course I don't."

"And you want to make sure that he'll be acquitted?"

"You know I do."

"Then go and see Kenneth Winnerly."

"Why, he's—"

"Yes, he's the head of the Winnerlys. Tell him that Mary Marshall, your grandmother, sent you."

And remember to tell me what he says when you say it."

"Thank you, grandmother," I told her.

I sought Kenneth Winnerly the next morning. As I went into the offices of the world's most famous detective agency I thought that access to the head of the institution might be difficult, but the messenger at the railing came back for me at once when he had taken in my card, leading me to an inner office, where a big man was seated at a huge table, from which he arose at my entrance. Pleasant-voiced, keen-eyed, reassuring, he held out his hand with more than passing friendliness. "You are Frances Marshall's daughter, aren't you?" he asked me.

"Grandmother told me to say I was Mary Marshall's granddaughter."

"That's just like her," he laughed. "She was my first love, you know. Not a sentimental valentine love, but a real one. She was a young married woman with three little girls, and I was a boy of 11 or so when she came to live next door

She gave me cakes and cookies and gingerbread and scoldings and advice and a lot of good mothering. My mother was dead. And I loved Mary Marshall. I still do. Now, what can I do for her granddaughter?"

I told him. He listened without looking at me, but staring at the ivory paper cutter which he twirled. "And you want evidence to acquit young Terry?" he asked me when I had ended the telling of all I knew of the case.

"Do you think you can get it?"

"Well, if Mary Marshall sent you to me, I suppose I must. It'll never do to let her know I couldn't." He pressed a buzzer beneath his desk, and the messenger came in. "Send Rothan," he ordered. A moment later a tall, lean man appeared, giving me a casual glance that I felt recorded me beyond possibility of later mistake. "Get all the existing evidence in the Benedict murder," he bade him. "Can you come back tomorrow at this time and bring Terry?" he asked me.

"Will they let him come?"

"O, yes, he's on bail," Rothan said.

Winnerly twinkled. "With Rothan interested already," he said, "we've turned one corner." The lean man smiled as I went out.

I telephoned to Justin at his apartment, asking him to meet me at the Athletic Club. He came, I think, for news of Natalie. He looked so worn and troubled that I hesitated to tell him the truth. "Mother thinks," I tried to smooth it down, "that it would be better that you didn't see Natalie just now."

"What does Natalie think?"

"She's so distressed and troubled that she's letting mother think for her. She isn't more than a child, you know."

"But you came in—and saw Winnerly."

"But I'm—"

"Yes, you're different." He gave me a look that sent the blood pounding up to my head.

"I don't want Natalie to worry," he said, "a moment's pause. Tell her I leave a vision to her. If she wants to see me, I'll do nothing until she's enough to think about," he said bitting this charge.

"But Winnerly—"

"What can Winnerly find out that know?" he protested. "It's good of you Marshall to interest him, but here's John Benedict is murdered and his tracks near the bridge. I am over him. No one else seems to of my peers picks me."

"O, if I hadn't seen you!"

"Someone else would have, the 'But will they make moment at you there?'"

Uncommon Sense

WHAT YOU OWE TO YOUR ENEMIES.

By John Blake.

ONE of the most successful public men in this country began life by making an enemy. This enemy was the kind of an enemy that Mark Twain called "permanent and reliable."

He was on the job all the time. He had a diabolical ingenuity, which he employed in devising ways and means to keep the public man out of office and to blight his political ambitions.

Sometimes he succeeded. Oftener he didn't.

For the very fact of his enmity kept the other man keyed up to the highest pitch.

He knew that a single mistake of judgment would bring his enemy down on him. He avoided even the appearance of evil lest he be put in a false position.

And he himself confesses today that he owes his present eminence, which is very great, to the keenness and alertness of this implacable enemy.

We never succeed without battles, and battles are always between enemies.

The course of success is as rough as the course of true love.

Moving along slowly and easily dulls the senses, as slipping down stream or the water in a canoe induces drowsiness.

To get upstream in a boat you must battle with the current. The battle develops muscles, and after a few of them you make much better progress.

You must meet and match brains with those of other men.

If they are strong and energetic, and cunning and crafty, it will take all the mental alertness you have to defeat them.

But whether you win or lose in the preliminary skirmishes, every little battle sharpens your wits and strengthens your determination.

Don't be afraid of enemies. Do not make them unnecessarily, but unless you have a few of them and a few able ones, you will be very seriously handicapped in the game you are playing.

Hand-Made Frocks Becoming Popular

By MARGUERITE MARTY.

THE hand-made cotton frock, simple but exquisitely dainty, appears to be superseding in popularity the more elaborate "ready-made" gown, if one may judge by the prices asked for these garments and the rapidity with which they are disposed of in smart West End shops where they are made. The vogue is seen to be a natural reaction from the machine and factory-made garments, from a surfeit of which women have wearied.

Simplicity of design, exactness of workmanship and materials that lend themselves to draw work and hand hemstitching, are the chief considerations in the construction of these gowns. Most frequently they are of fine French cotton voile, but another material sometimes preferred is more substantial and lending itself to more rapid drawn work is scrim, just scrim of the kind found in the curtain departments, but selected with regard to its sheerness, then dyed any tint that may be desired. Dotted swiss, especially blue with white dot, enhanced by Irish crocheted edging, and gingham trimmed with rickrack braid or edgings made of three cornered folds of organdie, also are materials and motifs adapted to the hand-wrought frock.

But the voile gown of delicate pastel hue, some shade of orchid, hyacinth, jonquil, apricot, relying otherwise for ornamentation only upon lines of hemstitching, fagotted seams or hand-run pin tucks, a collar of hand-made lace, filet or Irish crochet, preferably, or of batiste hand-embroidered, these are some of the hall marks which distinguish these gowns as coming from the most authoritative sources.

The hand-made gown or blouse is to be bought ready-to-wear, and the department stores have them, and a bit of hand work is eagerly seized upon at any price. But the really fastidious woman with the means to pay for fine needlework at the current high prices of labor, will order her summer wardrobe hand-made, according to individual and distinctive designs especially suited to her. Hence the exceeding prosperity just now of the West End dressmaking and applied arts shops.

The prices charged for these garments are such as to bring the idly inquiring shopper to an attitude of respect and attention, if she has not already been impressed with their mere daintiness. Sixty dollars for a green and white checked gingham whose sole elaboration consists of organdie at the edge of its wide tucks and the skirt and Quakerish collar cuffs of organdie, $20 for a pink voile whose trimming consists of rows of hand-run pin tucks and criss-crossing at right angles the blouse and skirt and $100 for an apricot tinted and wide hem which almost dou the skirt and the lower part of blouse, and the same double ple ching tracing geometric design upon the bodice—these were prices, none half obtaining the one saleswoman on an at the diff' as perhaps irrefutable proof of in defense.

If the bread is to rise over night in warm weather, on the other hand as much as two yeast cakes may be used to a loaf, if it is necessary to hasten the process, without any perceptible effects on the color, texture or flavor. It should be remembered that if bread is left to rise too long, other organisms in the dough get a chance to work, and the bread may sour. A small amount of sugar or two teaspoonfuls, hastens fermentation, while salt checks it, and only a teaspoonful to a loaf should be used.

The thorough mixing of the dough, which is so essential a part of bread-making, distributes the yeast uniformly, and when fermentation takes place, it acts evenly throughout the mass.

By Mrs. Elizabeth Kent.

BREAD in one of its manifold forms is the mainstay of life in nearly all countries, and has been so for thousands of years. Our bread is the product of skill in the preparation of flour and yeast, and reaches its highest form in the perfect homemade loaf, the ultimate test of the real cook.

Overdone Defense.

The visitor to the lawyer's office stood in amazement.
"I say, old man," he exclaimed. "Whatever has happened to you? Had a motor smash or what?"
The lawyer shook his head wearily as he gingerly touched his bruised and bandaged face.
"No. You remember that case the other day when I defended a man charged with assault? Well, I made a strong plea for him on the ground that he was a fool rather than a criminal."
"Yes, but—"
"I did it so well that he was acquitted and he waited for me outside the court."—San Francisco Argonaut.

"See here, Sam, I can't find any papers for you. Where were you drafted from?"
"Sho, Boss, Ah wan't drafted at all, nohow."

A Penny Saved.

The butcher grumbled angrily to himself as he put up the 10-cent meat order. "Cheap skate," he muttered, "if she ever let loose of a dollar."
Just then a small boy burst excitedly in the door.
"Hi," he shouted, "are you putting up mamma's order of cat meat?"
"Yeah," replied the butcher, "and all I gotta say is—"
"Unwrap it right away," announced the boy. "Kitty's caught a sparrow."—Exchange.

By James J. Montague.

LIFE ON THE DEAR OLD FARM.

When Farmer Jones observes the sun is waning in the west,
And wants the evening milking done,
Before he goes to rest,
He rubs his old gray head and blinks
And then he cranks the car,
And slivers to the neighboring links
To fetch the hired man.

When shadows, creeping o'er the land,
To Mrs. Jones reveal
Full plainly that the time's at hand
To get the evening meal,
She gives her hair a pat or so,
To see if it's in curl,
Then hurries to the neighbor show,
To call the hired girl.

When all the cows are milked and fed,
And when the yearling calf
Is nestled in his downy bed,
Jones starts the phonograph;
And in a gay and jazzy whirl,
With dip and swing and sway,
The hired man and hired girl
Trip cark and care away.

I used to rave about the charm
And calm bucolic joy
Existing on the dear old farm,
When I was but a boy.
I left the farm and went away,
When still a cullow kid,
And with things as they are today,
I'm mighty glad I did.

"My husband is going to bring me a nice box of candy home this evening," said Mrs. Youngbunny.

Doomed to Disappointment.

"Speaking of hopeful dispositions, there's Mrs. Blobs."
"What about Mrs. Blobs?"
"She's bought a ouija board with the expectation of finding out where and how Blobs spends his evenings."—Birmingham Age-Herald.
